REPUBLICANS demonstrate to you beyond the shadow of doubt that La Follette will take his votes from John W. Davis. "Organized labor States will desert Democrats," and "Davis will get nothing but the South."

DEMOCRATS can prove, if you have any intelligence at all, that La Follette's vote will be taken from Coolidge. La Follette is a Republican, his following is chiefly among the farmers of the Northwest. They are Republicans. La Follette will carry Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, cripple Coolidge and elect Davis. This is what the Democrats say.

THE FACT is that nobody knows anything about this election. It may be settled in the Senate by Governor Bryan being elected Vice-President and becoming automatically President.

But, if you must bet, be careful how you bet AGAINST Coolidge.

FOUR MORE earthquakes in Tokio, lasting an hour. It takes courage to live in that country, where earthquakes begin "with pronounced bumping, followed by a sidewise motion."

Find comfort in this: Every earthquake brings you so much nearer to the LAST earthquake. When the earth once gets settled down, presumably it will stay settled.

It has been settling for hundreds of millions of years, however, and may continue settling for another million or so. And besides, the continents are only a floating crust on the earth's hard core, and they keep moving. We die so fast, we don't notice it!

MR. ARNSTEIN, "master mind," had one million of stolen bonds tucked away somewhere. It is said Mr. Arnstein will be set free, if he will restore the bonds. Those hiding them will not be prosecuted.

Perfectly legal, presumably, but it would make one million dollars in bonds more important than "equal justice to all." If Mr. Arnstein had stolen a loaf of bread, they would not let him out of prison for restoring the loaf. One million dollars—THAT is different.

TWENTY-FIVE MILLION DOLLARS worth of grain elevators are included in a big merger that will allow men that grow grain to control marketing. This is one of the biggest co-operative marketing enterprises ever organized.

The farmers owning this concern, IF they own it, and IF they control its management, would have storage for 50,000,000 bushels of grain, in Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha, Minneapolis, Fort Worth, Texas, etc.

MEN THAT produce the wheat, pigs, corn, potatoes, etc., ought to have something to do with the marketing and price regulation. They haven't managed it yet, but California has proved that it can be done.

FIRES ARE sweeping magnificent forests on the Pacific coast. Entire families have been wiped out. Beautiful trees and great property values were destroyed.

Mr. Jackson, son of the owner of the Portland Journal, in New York yesterday, attributed the trouble to the exceptionally light rainfall.

One day such fires will be controlled by State and National fleets of flying machines that will patrol all important forest regions and flock at the first wireless fire signal to extinguish the flames from above.

LAWYERS of the American Bar Association, sailing for England on an English ship, will present to the British a gigantic statue of Sir William Blackstone, whose memory many law students have cursed heartily.

An able New York lawyer, Elmer Schlesinger, said yesterday: "If Blackstone were here now, he would be working in somebody's law library for $100 a month."

BANK CASHIER'S WIFE TO MAKE GOOD SHORTAGE

LIVERMORE SECRETS STOLEN

Wires Tapped, He Says He Dropped $120,000, but Is Not Hard Hit

New York, July 17.—Charges that private wires leading from his office in upper Fifth Avenue to the offices of several brokers have been tapped lately were made by Jesse L. Livermore, famous plunger of Wall Street, in a statement appearing in the New York World in which he denied rumors that he had suffered heavy losses recently in his speculations.

As a result of the alleged wire-tapping, much information of a valuable and confidential nature has been obtained by persons for whom it was not intended, Livermore asserted. He told the rumors that he had suffered heavy losses were laughable.

Jesse Livermore

"OFF" STOCK MARKET.

"The report that I have suffered losses, particularly in American Can Company stock," he said, "is obviously due to certain interests that are trying to manipulate that stock. I have not lost a dollar in American Can, to say nothing of several millions. I haven't even been in American Can since last Winter, when I was at Palm Beach. At that time I did have a small loss in American Can—nothing more than $120,000—after a two-days' flyer in it.

"I haven't been active in the stock market now for two weeks, and I won't return to it until there is more public participation. It is nothing now but a professionally controlled market. Why should I bother with it when grain is moving through a range of from 10 to 15 cents a week, when I can trade in that in volume and get in and out in a short time." The stock market now offers none of these advantages.

BUSINESS BAD.

"The stock market is controlled by cliques who are manipulating special stocks. There is no general public interest. I think this is due to the fact that money is cheap. Business conditions are poor, and you can't get the general public interested when they are.

"On the other hand, the grain market is at present a world-wide affair. It is so big that no man and no group of men can control it or have any influence upon it. This is on account of the short crops all over the world."

TAKES THIRD PLUNGE INTO MATRIMONY

MRS. FELTON ELKINS

Boston woman was successively Mrs. W. Arthur Stickney and Mrs. Lansing Kellogg Tevis before becoming bride of Elkins, millionaire polo player of New York and San Francisco, with whom she is now honeymooning in Europe. It was also the bridegroom's third attempt to secure marital bliss.

HUB GIRL IS ELKINS' 3D BRIDE

Daughter of Guy Currier Is Herself Married for the Third Time

Young Felton Elkins, whose addiction for polo and marriages have kept the social spotlight whirling from New York to San Francisco and intermediate places these last ten years, has taken the wedding vows once more, and secretly sailed for a honeymoon in Europe, with a Boston girl.

His bride of this third venture, hardly less spectacular than himself in the giddy doings of the beau mondes, and also twice married before, was Mrs. Lansing Kellog Tevis, before that, Mrs. W. Arthur Stickney—first woman in society to bob her hair—; and before that, Miss Sarah Currier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Currier of this city.

The bridegroom gave his age as thirty-five and the bride twenty-nine. Though the marriage license bears as the date of the ceremony, June 24, revealing none other than here fact, friends of the striking young newlyweds who ferretted out their secret, say that they were married in the office of the New York City clerk on that same date and sailed for Europe on the S. S. Majestic, June 28.

In the marriage license hereafter, however, no such return is to be found.

Also, on the face of the marriage license, issued in New York City and bearing June 24 as the date of marriage, it is recorded that both bride and bridegroom have been twice divorced.

Though the new Mrs. Elkins hails originally from Boston (she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy W. Currier), and though Felton Elkins' most recent domicile has been (for Social Register purposes), San Francisco, both have been living for months past just a few doors from each other in East 48th street, New York, she at No. 212, he at No. 221.

The bridegroom, always looked upon by his friends as a visionary and a dreamer, has become an author of considerable favor, and describes himself in the marriage license as "Playwright." He is the son of William Lukens Elkins, the Philadelphia capitalist of the Widener-Elkins Street Railways Combine, and a grandson of the late U. S. Senator C. N. Felton of California. His sister was Mrs. Christian de Guigne.

Both children inherited $1,000,000 each on the death of their father several years ago, and $250,000 each on the death of their grandmother, Mrs. William L. Elkins, in 1910.

Soon after his father's death young Elkins' mother became Mrs. William Delaware Neilson, but the union was not felicitous and now Mrs. Neilson resides in California while her husband lives in Philadelphia.

Felton Elkins was first married, in 1913, to Mrs. Burton Oliver. He was then twenty-four. His bride, once upon a time a milliner in Louisville, Ky., had been married before to one Howard Kronowitz, but this was annulled. The romance began in Rome, Italy, reached the altar in Lakewood, N. J., and the divorce courts in California in April, 1918.

2,000 QUIT BEDS IN HULL FIRE

Hotel Blaze Causes Scare at Nantasket; Two Towns Send Aid

Nantasket Beach had a fire scare early today and two thousand men, women and children hurried from their beds.

The fire was in the bakery of Richard's Hotel on Nantasket avenue.

Flames from the burning bakery lit up the sky for miles. Fearing a repetition of the disastrous fire of March, 1923, the Hull fire department telephoned for aid from Hingham and Cohasset.

EMPLOYES FLEE.

Hotel employes fled from the hotel when the alarm of fire was given. There were no guests in at the time.

As the flames gained headway, hundreds of residents of the beach district in light attire and in bathrobes hurried from their homes.

A report that the fire was beyond control and that the beach would be swept caused alarm for a time. The firemen, however, succeeded in preventing the fire from spreading from the bakery, which was located in an ell of the hotel.

SMOKE FILLS HOTEL.

The hotel was filled with smoke and great clouds of smoke rolled out onto Nantasket avenue.

The cause of the fire was not learned and the loss was not estimated.

U. S. MAY EXCLUDE HAWAIIAN JAPS

Washington, July 16.—Governors of California and other far Western States need have no fear of a wholesale Japanese invasion from the Hawaiian Islands under the new selective immigration act.

Of the 109,000 Japanese now in the islands, only the small minority born there have the right to come to the continental United States, according to an interpretation of the exclusion provisions of the 1924 act by the solicitor for the Department of Labor.

HEINEN QUITS AS SHENANDOAH PILOT

Washington, July 16.—Captain Anton Heinen's contract with the Bureau of Aeronautics, Navy Department, expired June 30. Early last Spring Captain Heinen reported to Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, chief of the bureau, that he had an offer from a firm interested in furthering the use of airships for civil aviation and that he would like to accept the position when his contract with the navy expired.

BAY STATE GIRL SCOUTS IN ENGLAND

London, July 16.—The American Girl Scouts and Girl Scout leaders representing 160,000 fellow Girl Scouts at home, left here today for the World Camp of Girl Scouts at Foxlease, Hampshire, where thirty-six nationalities will be represented in a camp lasting a week.

The Girl Scouts are the guests of the English guides. The American contingent included Misses Emily Holbrook and Edith Morrell, chaperones, of Massachusetts.

Suspension Faces Braves Who Took Part in Fight

Cincinnati, July 16.—A fight among members of the Boston National League club alleged to have been the final result of an all-night party in the team's hotel here, probably will have an echo within the next ten days.

Dick Rudolph, acting manager, who is handling the team during Manager Dave Bancroft's absence, was reported as being ready to take action in suspending the principals in the fight. The Braves play at St. Louis today.

The report of the fight came to light when Mickey O'Neil, catcher, appeared on the field before the Cincinnati-Boston game wearing a bandage on a bruised chin. Jess Barnes, pitcher, was nursing a sprained thumb.

SEEK WOMAN MANAGER OF ESTATE

Deputy sheriffs are scouring the state looking for Miss Elizabeth A. Butts, aged forty, to learn how much of the fortune of Mrs. Lucy A. Clark, aged eighty, she spent during the six years she was Mrs. Clark's companion at the Copley Square Hotel.

Miss Butts has disappeared, failing to render any accounting of her relations with the wealthy Mrs. Clark, who died, and the conservators of the Clark fortune are anxious to interrogate her.

Late in 1921 Louis C. Doyle and Davis R. Kimball, of Newton were appointed conservators of Mrs. Clark, a widow.

The aged woman suffers from arteriosclerosis and the complaint with her advanced years makes her unable to handle her own affairs, according to the conservators.

Before the action of the Probate Court, the conservators found that Miss Butts was the constant companion of Mrs. Clark, the two women occupying the same suite at the Copley Square hotel. They also found, they say, that during the six years Miss Butts was general factotum about the aged woman's suite, that many gifts were bestowed upon her by Mrs. Clark.

The conservators went about the business of checking up on Mrs. Clark's expenditures. Before they got around to the accounts of Miss Butts she checked out of the Copley Square hotel, and nothing has since been seen of her.

The conservators have filed a bill in equity, demanding an accounting from Miss Butts, but the process servers have so far been unable to unearth any trace of her.

BOARDMAN CONFESSES TO THEFT

Lowell Bank Cashier Played Stock Market on "Tips"; Stole About $107,000

Lowell, July 16.—J. Harry Boardman, embezzling cashier of the Old Lowell National Bank, has made a complete confession of his thefts of the bank's funds and has offered his assistance to federal examiners in straightening out the bank's books.

At the same time it has become known that Boardman's speculations of the bank's funds, which will amount to about $110,000, will be made good from the private fortunes of the ex-cashier's wife, Mrs. Flora F. Boardman. If necessary, Mrs. Boardman's family, wealthy Wisconsin dairymen, will aid her in making good her husband's thefts, it is stated.

The story as revealed in the confession of Boardman is a repetition of an age-old story.

What appeared like a wonderful opportunity presented itself for a "clean-up" in the stock market. At first the banker used only his own funds. The "tips" of those close to Boardman proved profitable and when his own savings were wiped out, he "borrowed" a small amount from the bank, sure of making a big killing in the next stock deal.

WENT DEEPER AND DEEPER.

The first of the bank's funds were taken fourteen months ago. Deeper and deeper the banker became involved in the market transactions. Always there was some small thing that prevented the long expected "clean-up," until finally the banker became hopelessly involved.

One door of escape presented itself to Boardman who was on the verge of collapse. His old friend and

YANKEE FLIERS ARRIVE IN ENGLAND

Croydon, England, July 17.—America's round-the-world fliers arrived here today three hours after they had hopped off from the French airfield in Paris.

They left Paris at 11:04 a. m. (Paris time). They received an enthusiastic reception at the hands of a big throng as they winged downward on arrival here.

The aviators were welcomed by F. A. Sterling, counsellor, acting for United States Ambassador Frank Kellogg. Commodore C. A. Longcroft, representing the British air ministry, and Commodore Webb Bowen, representing the royal air flyers.

A French commercial air liner accompanied the three United States air planes to point out the way to the Channel. They were followed by a French military escort of three planes which took them to the coast. On the British side of the Channel they were met by another air escort.

SEEK MAN, 50, AS STRANGLER OF BOY

New York, July 16.—Virtually the entire police force of Staten Island was marshalled to day in an effort to arrest the slayer of eight-year-old Francis McDonald, son of a Staten Island policeman, whose mutilated body was found in a hastily constructed grave of brush and leaves near the child's home.

The body was discovered by a searching party which had been seeking the boy since his disappearance Monday afternoon.

The boy's suspenders, knotted tightly about the throat, had been used to strangle him, and the body bore evidences of fiendish attack by the police say. Nearly all the clothing had been torn from the body and was scattered about.

The police had few clews upon which to work, only one person other than the slayer, apparently, having seen the boy after he went to play Monday afternoon.

Jacob Stein, a neighbor of the McDonald family, told the police he saw the lad at 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon walking along the road toward the woods. He wore a new pair of overalls in which he had a child's pride.

Just ahead of the boy was a man whom Stein described as "about fifty years old." Believing the boy was

REDMOND MUST GIVE BONDS OR GO TO JAIL

When George F. Redmond of the bankrupt firm of George F. Redmond & Co. appeared in Federal Court today for the resumption of his trial on charges of conspiracy and fraud, he was ordered to furnish new bail in the sum of $10,000 or stand committed. The bondsman who furnished the original bail of $10,000 withdrew from the case yesterday afternoon.

ALARM STARTED BY CLOSING VAULT DOOR

The vault burglar alarm outside of the Union National Bank started ringing and attracted a crowd which waited for the thieves to appear.

Investigation disclosed that the alarm was started by the watchman when he closed the safe door, inadvertently left open.

INJURY ON 'FOURTH' FATAL TO CHILD

Roy Favie, four, son of Mrs. Mary Favie of No. 315 Paris street, East Boston, died at the City Hospital as the result of a Fourth of July accident. The child while playing with a horn, fell and the mouthpiece of the horn punctured the back of his mouth. Blood poisoning developed.

EX-CASHIER BOARDMAN CONFESSES ROBBING BANK OF $110,000

FORGED TO GAMBLE IN STOCKS

neighbor Fred E. Nelson, former owner of a chain of five-and-ten cent stores throughout New England, with an immediate purpose gained from the loan of his money might help him out of the hole.

In his desperation, Boardman had forged the names of Nelson and his wife, Grace P. Nelson, to notes by which means he covered up his shortages for a time.

Nelson and his wife were at their palatial Summer home at Sutton, N. H. They formerly lived in Lowell—were close intimates and neighbors of the Boardman family.

CONFESSES FORGERY

The harried cashier went to Sutton. He first asked for endorsements on a large note. When Nelson refused, the cashier finally made a clean breast of his troubles at the bank—told his former neighbor how he had forged his name to notes, and begged for help to keep him from the penitentiary and his family from disgrace.

Had Nelson gone to the aid of the cashier it is unlikely that the thefts from the bank funds would ever have become known. But Nelson refused.

Boardman realized by this time that the game was up—that he not was lightning and that he could not escape. He returned to Lowell, went directly to the office of his attorney, Albert S. Howard, and confessed the entire affair.

BOARDMAN PENNILESS

At the time this confession was made the Federal examiners were on the books of the bank. They discerned the forgeries and within a few hours Boardman was under arrest.

Boardman himself is penniless. The magnificent home which Mrs. Boardman has been occupying is the property of Fred E. Nelson, and the family occupies it in the name of his wife. Mrs. Boardman also has a private fortune of considerable size, while her family is wealthy. This wealth will furnish funds for making full restitution, according to those who are close to the family of the former cashier.

It is known that Boardman did not carry on his stock transactions without the knowledge of certain "friends." It is understood that should the case be fully aired the part these "friends" played in the embezzlement will be made known to the world and speculation is rife as to just what pressure they may have brought to bear to keep their connection identified with the case before it is concluded.

The Boardmans, according to Attorney Howard, will continue living in Lowell. They will continue living in their magnificent home, at least until the case against Boardman has been carried through the courts.

The officers of the Old Lowell National Bank, from which institution Boardman stole the thousands, have issued another statement, reaffirming in earlier ones, that the bank is solvent and has not been affected in any way by the thefts of the former cashier.

To reassure depositors of the institution, business is conducted with utmost lacks of secrecy and apparently pilot within the cage of the paying teller of the bank. While there may have been some withdrawals of accounts, yet business, generally according to the bank officials, has not been affected by the disclosures.

The Boardman home which Mrs. [illegible]

Woman Overcome As Trolley Car Hits Auto in Malden

Suffering from no other injury than extreme fright when a street car hit his automobile in which she was riding on Pleasant street, Malden, and all but completely demolished the machine, Miss Rose Reynolds of 79 Central avenue, Medford, was taken in an unconscious condition to Malden Hospital.

The automobile was driven by Harry Wasnic of No. 24 Viola avenue, Medford. Harold K. Smith of No. 14 Wilson avenue, Malden, brought the electric car to an abrupt stop in his efforts to avoid the accident.

FEAR DELAY IN RELEASE OF DE VALERA

Friends' Demand That He Open Irish Games May Defer Amnesty

Dublin, July 16—(CNS)—The freedom of Eamon De Valera, Austin Stack and other Irish political prisoners was ordered today which President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State signed a warrant for the release of all such political prisoners.

The date of the effect of the general amnesty has not been determined, but it was indicated the prison gates throughout Ireland probably would swing outward this week-end or early next week.

Republican supporters of De Valera, however, have already complicated the situation by demanding that their leader be freed in time to open the Tailtean games—an honor which they demand should go to him instead of Cosgrave. That may delay the release date.

De Valera has been in prison since last August. Stack was imprisoned in April, 1923.

SASKATCHEWAN IS TAKING LIQUOR VOTE

Regina, Sask., July 16—Voters of Saskatchewan in an election today were registering their choice as to whether their doors to remain "bone dry" or to permit liquor to be sold for beverage purposes under government control.

Two questions appeared on the referendum ballot, one of them with divisions. Every voter must answer "yes" or "no" to the first question, which is: "Are you in favor of government control in Saskatchewan?" The province has been dry since December, 1915, which was the first time women exercised the franchise.

MAINE DOCTORS BAFFLED BY POISON CASE

Portland, Me., July 16—Surgeons at the Maine General Hospital are trying to determine the nature of a poison, traces of which were found in the stomach of Frederick John son, seventy four, of No. 99 Pine street, taken to that institution unconscious from a hotel, where he had been a guest for several hours.

His wife, Mrs. Elizabeth G. Johnson, went to the hotel and asked if he was registered there, and on being told that no Johnson was on the register it was examined and in handwriting resembling Johnson's was found the name "F. Jones."

Going to the room assigned to "Mr. Jones," Mrs. Johnson found her husband unconscious on the bed while a bottle of ginger ale and a bag of peppermints were in the room.

Physicians at the hospital say, however, that the man apparently had taken some poison.

His condition is serious.

MAN'S EARS CUT OFF IN AUTO CRASH

Lazaro Leccese, No. 74 Liverpool street, East Boston, had both his ears partly severed as the result of a collision of a truck, on which he was riding, with a trolley car at the corner of Monmouth and Meridian streets, East Boston.

The truck, driven by Antonio Hall Groff of No. 43 Orleans street, was badly damaged and several windows in the street car were broken.

NAVAL BILL ASKS FOR 3,000 MORE MEN

Washington, July 16—Rigorous slashes of navy personnel since the World War will be counter-balanced to some extent if high officers of the Navy Department succeed in putting a bill through Congress calling for an increase of 3,000 men to man the aircraft carriers Lexington and Saratoga. Additional increases are expected.

New Radio Device Bars 'Listening In' Says Hammond

New York, July 16—Invention of a device to eliminate "listening in" or interference in radio transmission was announced by John Hays Hammond, Jr., vice-president of the Radio Corporation of America who returned from Italy.

Complete isolation of sender and receiver is effected, Mr. Hammond said, by a method of sending out rays with curves and dents in them, similar to the rise and fall of the pulse on a nurse's chart. Only the receiver familiar with the wave type can read the message, Hammond asserted. He spent two months in Italy arranging for the use of the invention.

It will also make it possible to flash complete pages of print across the Atlantic by radio, he predicted.

POINT IS WON BY CROKER WIDOW

West Palm Beach, Fla., July 16—Mrs. Frances Shelley Croker, former Tammany chieftain, lost another step in their contest of his will when Judge Richard Parker, former Tammany chieftain, lost another step in their contest of his will when Judge Parker ruled at the result of a collision of a truck, on which he was riding, with a trolley car at the corner of Monmouth and Meridian streets, East Boston.

The truck, driven by Antonio Hall Groff of No. 43 Orleans street, was badly damaged and several windows in the street car were broken.

on grounds that Mrs. Croker, his second wife, exerted undue influence over her husband in his later years, and other charges, announced through their attorney that they would appeal from the decision.

CODICIL TO WILL.

Attached to the will was a codicil written by Croker on November 15, of the same year, to his wife Re questing that she give his daughter, Florence, $10,000 pounds sterling because "she is the only one of my surviving children that has ever shown any gratitude to me."

Mrs. Croker cannot take possession of any part of the estate, save Croker's personal property here, valued at $2,000, until settlement of the case involving $110,000 in municipal bonds which were seized from a local bank vault last October as security for Federal tax payments.

Her attorneys said, however, that the way now is clear for her to apply for ancillary papers in Manhattan, to supersede the New York Trust Company as administrators of the estate.

STAYS FOR NEW YORK.

The court action followed the sustaining ten days ago of Mrs. Croker's demurrer to objections filed by the three children to her original petition for probate of July 8, 1922.

During the litigation here, the will was sent to Dublin and admitted to probate there June 15, 1923.

Mrs. Croker expects to qualify as sole executrix of the estate with the filing of the temporary bond of $10,000. She has left for New York City and will sail for Ireland July 19 with her mother.

REBELS REPULSED BY BRAZILIAN TROOPS

Washington, July 16 (Universal)—Brazilian Federal troops are forcing back the rebels, a statement issued by the Brazilian Embassy today said. The government feels certain that the rebels will be completely defeated. Twenty-one additional prisoners, including two cavalry officers, have been taken and a great many deserters from the rebel ranks have come to Santos from Sao Paulo, the statement declares.

GERMANY WELCOMES DAVID W. GRIFFITH

Berlin, July 16.—Considerable attention is being paid by the Germans here to the arrival of David Wark Griffith, who is here to work out scenes in his new film, "The Dawn."

The newspapers welcome him as the "inventor of monumental productions" and call him a "welcome addition to the growing Hollywood colony of Berlin."

MRS. AMORY SUES BANKER FOR DIVORCE

Paris Action of Hub Social Leader Is a Surprise to Friends

The marital affairs of Charles Minot Amory, Boston banker, and his beautiful wife, who was formerly Miss Gladys Mildred Mann of Washington, are on the rocks.

Cable dispatches from France today announced that Mrs. Amory had filed suit for a divorce in the Seine tribunal.

The news came as a shock to their friends because it was not generally known that divorce proceedings were imminent.

ACTIVE IN SOCIETY.

For ten years the Amorys have been prominent on the North Shore, while during the winter seasons they have been active at Palm Beach and other southern resorts.

The Amorys were married at Manchester-on-the-Sea in July 1913. While their home nominally was in Boston yet the young couple spent most of their time travelling about the world.

A year ago the Amorys were members of a party of social leaders that traveled to Shelby, Mont., on a private car to witness the championship Dempsey-Gibbons prize fight.

The Amorys have two children.

At the same time Mrs. Amory filed suit for divorce two other American wives and one husband entered similar suits.

Mrs. Francis Bradley, formerly Miss Geraldine Adee, filed suit against her husband. The Adees were married at Tuxedo Park, N.Y., in 1916.

Mrs. Dorothy Stanley Matthews-Harrington seeks freedom from her husband, James Harrington, whom she married in Cincinnati in 1919. Royal Ransom Miller of New York, has entered suit against Pattie Chandler Day Miller.

TEACHER-BRIDE, 26, JUST LIKE SWEET 16

Springfield, July 16—A good heart interest story was all shot to pieces today by Mrs. Harry S. Fraser, a Bradford school teacher. Until Saturday last she was Miss Gladys Crimmin. An enterprising reporter, sending out the news of the wedding, described it as a romance between a teacher of thirty-four and a boy of nineteen, whom she used to instruct in reading and writing and "things" tic. Bob haired, pretty and smart, Mrs. Fraser declines the nomination. She is twenty-six and the boy is 21. Here bridegroom is twenty-three. She had nothing to do with his early education, although she admits she will superintend it from now on. Anyway, it was a good story.

STATE POLICE HUNT GIRL TERRORIZERS

Pelham, July 16.—The State police continued their investigation of the young men who terrorized some 20 girls, but under 16 years of age, in the Girl Scout camp here, and attempted to force the doors to their cottage, when Miss Annie E. E. Simmons, their chaperon, held the rowdies off with two pistols.

Troop B of the State police, under Lieutenant James H. Sheeran, questioned several young men who are alleged to have created a disturbance in Pelham during the eve of July 4. No arrests have been made thus far.

DYSART IS CHOSEN TO HEAD BANKERS

Gloucester, July 16.—Officers of the National Investment Bankers' Association, to be elected at the Convention to be held next October, were placed in nomination at the quarterly Summer session of the organization, held at "Eldritty," the home of John W. Prentiss at Eastern Point.

Thomas N. Dysart of St. Louis was nominated for president and Frank W. Remick, a Boston man, for one of the vice-presidents. Nomination is equivalent to election.

FARMER LABORITES FACE DISRUPTION

Washington, July 16.—Because of the capture of the Farmer-Labor party of Minnesota by William Mahoney and a band of Communists, the name of Senator La Follette may have to appear on the State ballot as an independent and not as a candidate of the Farmer-Labor party. Mahoney's action may result in the disruption of the party which now has two senators in Washington. Senator Shipstead issued a statement tantamount to a withdrawal from the party if it cannot be purged of its Communist taint.

SAFECRACKER OF 11 PUT ON PROBATION

Worcester, July 16.—John Chapulis, eleven years old, of No. 112 Washington street, the youngest prisoner ever arrested here on a charge of cracking a safe, was placed on probation for a year today, when he was arraigned in Central District Court on a charge of breaking, entering and larceny. The boy's arrest resulted from an attempt made Sunday night to crack the safe of the Union Furniture Company on Green street.

directing a stranger to the trolley line, Stein gave no further heed to the pair, he said. So far as the police have been able to learn, that was the last time the boy was seen alive.

The police have thrown a cordon around the island, with watches maintained at the ferries and a lookout for boats putting out from the land by which the slayer might try to escape.

The scene of the boy's murder is only three-quarters of a mile from the spot where Mrs. Maude Bauer was shot and killed last March after her car had stalled on a lonely road. Harry Hoffman, a motion picture operator, is now serving a twenty-year sentence for her murder.

HARBORD WARNS AGAINST PACIFISM

Columbia, S. C., July 16.—Election of officers, decision as to the next convention city and consideration of committee reports were the concluding tasks of the sixth annual reunion of the Rainbow (Forty-second) Division Association.

Major-General James G. Harbord, who commanded the division at the front, warned against the spread of pacifism, which, he declared, was advocated only by "deluded men and women."

REDMOND CASE PROSECUTION TO REST

Government Evidence Against Brokers Nearly Finished

The government was to rest its case by noon today in the trial of George F. Redmond in the United States District Court on charges of conspiracy and using the mails to defraud. Assistant United States Attorney Essex Abbott stated to Judge Lowell.

Harry A. Cassidy, a State street broker, was an important witness. James S. Lamont in testimony at other times, has stated that customers' collateral was loaned by the Redmond firm to brokers. Cassidy, upon being asked the direct question by Assistant United States Attorney Abbott, declared that none was ever loaned to him.

J. Weston Allen, one of the receivers, testified that he had a summons issued in New York for L. Marvin Simmons, but up to Monday it had been impossible to obtain service.

It was learned that George F. Redmond was "surrendered" by a surety company which has supplied his bail since the former Congress street broker was arrested by the Federal authorities in March.

It makes little practical difference to Redmond, however, since he is now in jail for contempt of court and there is no apparent likelihood of his being released for some time.

U. S. BAR VANGUARD ARRIVES IN LONDON

London, July 16.—The advance contingent of American lawyers who will attend the convention of the International Law Association here next week arrived on the Aquitania at Southampton and came to London immediately, adding to what the press calls "The American Invasion" of the metropolis. Miss Henrietta A. Neuhaus and Miss Helen L. Williams in walking boots and knickerbockers, and with heavy haversacks, started on a walking tour in the interval before the convention to see the rural attractions of Devonshire.

$40,000 OF ALIMONY GOES TO BABY BOY

Cincinnati, O., July 16.—One-half of the $80,000 preliminary alimony granted to Mrs. Irma Burdsal, who got a divorce from Almo Burdsal, was placed in trust today for their infant son.

Cincinnati society circles were still buzzing over the testimony at the divorce trial in which Burdsal, a young multi-millionaire, confessed to having numerous sweethearts. On one occasion, the testimony revealed, Mrs. Burdsal pulled handfuls of hair from the head of a fair companion of her husband.

WILLETT'S PARTNER GOES ON THE STAND

The George P. Willett suit trial was resumed in the Norfolk Superior Court at Dedham, with Edmund H. Sears, Willett's partner at the time the $3,000,000 loan was made, on the stand. Under cross-examination of George L. Mayberry, chief counsel for defense, several matters pertaining to the Willett, Sears Company were gone into.

SEMI-SOFT COLLAR KING, NOW WEALTHY, CONTINUES TO WORK

VAN HEUSEN HAS $4,000,000 FORTUNE IN SIGHT

John Van Heusen's always had a collar around his neck.

And because he hated hard collars and hadn't much use for soft ones, John is today America's "Collar King," with a fortune enhanced by a court decision which should net him $4,000,000.

Soft collars for Summer wear were all the vogue before John Van Heusen of Boston tore one from his perspiring neck one hot day not so many years ago.

"Won't wear one of these confrontions again," he declared. "The stiff ones in the Winter and the soft ones in the Summer give me a pain in the neck. I'll make a collar for all-year wear which will be a cross between the two and comfortable, with upstanding qualities."

MADE THE SEMI-SOFT.

And he did. And he made a fortune. He invented the semi-soft collar.

It followed naturally that the big collar princes of the famous Troy factories must adopt Van Heusen's lead or lose much business.

For Van Heusen's "semi-softs" knocked the starch out of all other makes.

But when the aforesaid "collar princes" began to copy the Boston man's collar he went into court about it. Now Judge Hand in the United States Circuit Court of New York has upheld the Van Heusen pattern.

STILL A RENT-PAYER.

And Van Heusen, already wealthy, though a rent-payer and a man who lives in comfort rather than style, is entitled to recover $4,000,000 damages.

A reporter found Van Heusen in his comfortable office on the second floor of No. 167 Tremont street. He was not at all eager to discuss with newspapermen his success.

The decision of Judge Hand has not at all changed the Jamaica Plain man. He was at his office bright and early and on his desk were scores of congratulatory messages on his good fortune, while during the day he was besieged with telephone calls from friends all over New England.

Mr. Van Heusen was born in Albany, N. Y., the son of William and Arbelia Manning Van Heusen. Both his father and mother are former Boston residents. Van Heusen went to the Albany public schools and later to Albany Academy, from where he graduated.

WAS ONCE A "NEWSIE."

During off hours and vacation season he sold newspapers and got his first dollar from the sale of newspapers. He was known as a popular "kid" on the streets of Albany.

Van Heusen had the inventing habit. Shortly after his graduation from Albany Academy he worked several months on a device for sterilizing instruments used by surgeons in leading hospitals. his invention proved such a success that he received orders for his "sterilizer" from some of the biggest hospitals in the country.

The first invention of Mr. Van Heusen gave him a start in life, and as a result he made quite a tour of the country. On his return he moved to Boston, taking up an apartment at No. 33 Lakeville place, where he has resided since his marriage fifteen years ago.

He then went to work for the United Shoe Machinery Company in their Boston office in an advisory capacity. He stayed there for a period of fifteen years. About six years ago, he opened an office on Tremont street, devoting his time to the Van Heusen "soft roll collar." This invention soon proved a success, and then came the legal entanglements.

RECEIVED ROYALTY.

Mr. Van Heusen received a royalty for many years from a New York soft collar concern, and as a result of a decision by Judge Hand, the Jamaica Plain man comes in for a fortune estimated at $4,000,000.

Mr. Van Heusen has decided to keep his office on Tremont street, and is now completing an invention on a men's garter which he will put on the market this Fall.

N. E. RAILROADS IN HUGE PLAN FOR MERGERS

New York, July 16.—Informal conferences on the consolidation of railroads in the eastern part of the United States have been held recently by some of the larger railroads.

On account of the stage of negotiations, representatives of such railways as the New York Central and the Pennsylvania declined to discuss the progress made. Representatives of some of the smaller eastern railroads admitted they had not been included in the conferences.

Representatives of New England railroads, the eastern railroads and some of the southern railroads went to Washington today to confer informally with one of the members of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

It was said this conference was to take under advisement the solution of the New England rate division, but it is pointed out that the question of the proposed consolidations might have been discussed at this meeting.

Various plans have been suggested. One of them provides for the grouping of the eastern railroads in four trunk lines systems, with a fifth system to cover all New England which the four larger trunk line systems would have an interest.

HUNDREDS LOSE IN SUIT CLUB SWINDLE

Manchester, N. H., July 16.—From early in the morning until late at night a steady stream of young men rode to the fifth floor of the Pickering building, gave tragically at the door of the J. L. Rogers Tailoring Company and walk sadly away.

These sad-faced ones are members of the "Dollar-a-Week Suit Club." They paid in their dollars quite regularly, but the only chance they will have at a suit is when police bring the managers of the company, Herbert Dunlevy and Henry M. Davis. Then the members can enter a law suit, if so minded.

The suit "club" had hundreds of members in this city and Nashua. The victims paid in $1 apiece each week. When the lucky members name was drawn he secured a $45 suit and stopped paying dues. In any event he received the suit at the end of twenty-four weeks.

The sheriff has seized on an attachment, the property of the tailoring company, which consists of three pieces of cloth. So far as is known, none of the suits was ever delivered.

FRIEND GRILLED IN DEATH OF CONDUCTOR

Body Found Under Railroad Bridge Near the Melrose Mills at Attleboro

Attleboro, July 16.—The body of John Roberts, who had been missing from his home in Baker street in the Hebronville district, was found this afternoon under a railroad bridge, at the rear of the Hebron mills. The police are investigating his death.

The body was seen by two children who walked over the bridge.

Roberts, a carpenter, lived in Baker street with his wife and two young daughters.

Max Coots, who lives at the Roberts home, was questioned at the police station tonight. He is believed to be the last person who saw Roberts alive.

Boston Folk Fare Well in Spirited Golf Competition at Newport Country Club

By BETTY ALDEN

THERE was lively competition—and plenty of it—for the second weekly golf tournament held at the Newport Country Club.

It was a tomboroe sweepstake, and the winners were Francis I. Amory of Boston and Mrs. Winthrop Boardman, formerly the wife of Richard deB. Boardman of Boston. On the greens committee were Cyril B. Judge, R. Livingston Beeckman and Michael M. Van Buren.

Mrs. Winthrop Boardman

Apropos of golfing at Little Rhody's famous Summer stamping ground—competition grows keener each day for the gold and silver golf balls which T. Suffren Taller is offering for the best gross and net scores made during July and August at Ocean Links, his own golf course.

Among those wielding their clubs for these coveted trophies are Grafton D. Dushing, Cyril B. Judge and the Countess Laszlo Szechenyi.

IT is interesting to note that "Beauvoir," the beautiful estate just outside Washington, which was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. William Phillips and their family for several seasons, is now the home of the new Under Secretary of State and Mrs. Joseph C. Grew.

Both the Phillips and the Grew family keep up their many Boston connections, though the various diplomatic posts of Mr. Phillips and Mr. Grew have kept both families away from Boston for some time.

Last Summer Mrs. Phillips and the children made a long season of it at "Highover," the family's Summer abode at North Beverly. Mr. Phillips, who was then Under Secretary of State, joining them whenever his duties would permit. This season "Highover" will be unoccupied, the family being in Belgium where Mr. Phillips took up his duties as American ambassador some time ago.

"Beauvoir" is one of the most charming estates around Washington. There are acres of shaded woodland about the place and the house stands on such an eminence as to command a superb view of the capital and the Potomac.

Last Winter "Beauvoir" was the scene of many a delightful function, but this season there will be very little entertaining indeed, for Mr. and Mrs. Grew are in mourning for the death of their eldest daughter, a tragedy which occurred about the time that the Grews sailed from Switzerland, where Mr. Grew served this country as Minister.

Mrs. Curtis Guild (Marceau)

MRS. CURTIS GUILD is established for another long season at Nahant, where she has summered for a number of years.

Mrs. Guild is noted for the charming parties which she gives during the season—affairs attended by personages of prominence in the official and diplomatic worlds.

MRS. HEARST IS GIVEN BIG OVATION

Had Expected Only Quiet Reception on Return to Coast Home

San Francisco, July 16 (Universal).—When Mrs. William Randolph Hearst arrived in San Francisco with Mrs. John F. Hylan, wife of New York's Mayor, as her guest of honor, the quiet little gathering she had anticipated was broken into by official welcome.

It was official welcome of a quality that comes from home—a spontaneity that could not be denied—an enthusiasm given only to one's own.

Back of the little family group that sailed eagerly in the warm sunshine at the Oakland Mole was the reception committee of the California Development Association. As cameras clicked and greetings were made, Miss Mariel Hyde, "Miss California," presented Mrs. Hearst and her guest of honor with clusters of fragrant roses, tokens of welcome of the State Chamber of Commerce.

During the bay trip Mrs. Hearst and Mrs. Hylan became the centre of an informal reception, surrounded by friends who had crossed on the ferry boat to meet them.

"Homecoming has an added pleasure this time," said Mrs. Hearst. "For it gives me the opportunity to show our lovely California to new eyes. Mrs. Hylan has heard so much of us out here. We are going to show her that California lives up to her reputation in every respect. You know this State is like the favorite child—one isn't satisfied until all the family friends have seen and admired."

BOSTON WORLD FAIR FOR 1930 ADVOCATED

Great Harbor Statue to Surpass N. Y. "Liberty" Projected

Ambitious plans for a world's fair in Boston in 1930, to celebrate the 300th anniversary of the first settlement, at a cost of $20,000,000, and a poem in the way of permanent improvements, were advocated before a preliminary survey committee at its first public meeting, in the City Council chamber.

Van Ness Bates, representing the Metropolitan Improvement Association, outlined the project which includes the creation of a monument to surpass the statue of Liberty in New York harbor and to be located at Fort Independence, City Point, symbolizing "America Welcoming the World."

The site for the world's fair, tentatively selected by the Metropolitan Improvement Association, is the 2000 acres of flats in Dorchester, in the Columbia road-Strandway-Cow Pasture section.

Charles A. Ufford, vice-president of the Dorchester Historical Society, outlined the plans of that section for its own tercentenary celebration the first week of June, 1930.

Miss Virginia Tanner told of the pageant possibilities of this world fair project.

I feel fine on hot days

I used to hate hot weather. Took the life all out of me. Couldn't work and didn't care to play.

Summer is now my best season. One simple, sensible idea showed me how to keep cool, efficient and comfortable on hot days.

I took my temperature one sizzling afternoon when I felt half cooked and found that my blood was exactly the same temperature that it was in winter. "Then," said I, "the trouble must be with my skin."

So next morning, I got into a tub of hot water and scrubbed myself with Lifebuoy. Rubbed the penetrating, gently antiseptic lather deep down into the pores. Then I splashed cold water onto my skin and dried it with brisk rubbing.

Felt cool all day

Any doctor will tell you the reason. My pores were open and purified. They could breathe.

My body was able to get rid of waste and poisons freely. The soap I formerly used just cleaned the surface. Lifebuoy went down into the pores and removed all the dirt.

Lever Bros. Co. Cambridge, Mass.

Orange-red Lifebuoy is the color of pure pain fruit oil...You will like the clean, wholesome, quickly vanishing odor because you like cleanness.

During the day I wash my face, hands and wrists as often as possible both for the tonic effect and to remove germs which moist hands pick up from almost everything they touch.

As a result, my skin is soft and finely textured and my complexion has a natural healthy underglow. I have never found any other soap that is as good for my skin as Lifebuoy.

Health—what is it?

Radiant charm in children; big achievement for men; for women, the power to attract and to live gloriously; prolongation of youth; living always in the sunlight, undarkened by the shadows of sickness—that is health...Lifebuoy is the health soap.

RESCUE LEAGUE IN DILEMMA OVER DOG

The Animal Rescue League needs a German police dog to pull itself out of a hole, so to speak.

The league gave a police dog away and now the East Cambridge court has handed down a decision directing that the dog in the property of Mrs. Mary L. Goodhue of No. 44 Charles street, Cambridge.

Mrs. Goodhue wants her dog and the Animal Rescue League hasn't got it.

Mrs. Goodhue told Judge Stone the dog was taken from her home by Mrs. Emma C. Gallagher, who removed from No. 105 Payerweather street to another neighborhood. Mrs. Gallagher got tired of the dog and turned it over to the league which gave it away.

"The dog is your property and you are entitled to it," the court told Mrs. Goodhue. What to do is the problem facing the Rescue League officials.

Gov. Bryan Jokes About 3rd Party Nomination

Lincoln, Neb., July 16.—Governor Charles W. Bryan, Democratic nominee for vice-president, was asked whether he would accept a similar nomination on the Independent Progressive ticket with La Follette.

"That reminds me of the young lady who said she wasn't going to a party because she hadn't been invited," Bryan replied. "If you should be invited, would you accept?" she was asked.

" 'I don't know whether previous engagements might interfere with my doing so,' was her answer."

HUB SWIMMERS RUSH TO JOIN LIFE GUARDS

The campaign of the Boston American to secure adequate protection for bathers in and about Hub watering places has borne fruit at the Kenberma section of Nantasket Beach.

The agitation of the American, coupled with the death at Kenberma of Jacob Cohen of No. 144 Sanford avenue, Kenberma, has led to the appointment of Benjamin Berman of No. 21 Alden street, Quincy, as lifeguard. His salary will be paid by Summer residents of the beach who have banded together.

In the meantime the Boston American's Volunteer Life Saving Corps is off to a flying start.

GIRL AMONG THE FIRST

Every volunteer who has named Friday as his choice of day for beginning the instruction or for taking the Red Cross test, is requested to be on hand at the Magnolia Beach bathhouse Friday morning.

The first members of the Boston American's Volunteer Life Saving Corps are:

Edward M. Mulvey of No. 126 Ninth street, South Boston.

Samuel Alpert of No. 14 Hollander street, Roxbury.

Olive Holland of Wollaston.

Mulvey, Alpert and Miss Holland already are qualified Red Cross lifesavers, and not only have volunteered for membership but have asked to be allowed to assist Captain Wallace in examining the volunteers.

Magazine Beach bathhouse is reached by trolley car out Commonwealth avenue, from Park street subway station, to Cottage Farm Bridge. Across the bridge and a couple of hundred yards up the boulevard on the Cambridge side is the bathhouse. Captain Wallace and a Boston American representative will be there Friday at 9:30.

The following volunteers and others who are ready to start on Friday are requested to be there sometime during the forenoon up to 11 o'clock.

Edward H. Mulvey, No. 137 W. Ninth street, South Boston.

Harold E. Barr, No. 876 Shirley street, Winthrop.

Samuel Alpert, No. 14 Hollander street, Roxbury.

Emmanuel S. Freeman, No. 15 Nevada street, Winthrop.

David L. Cohen, No. 356 Sumner street, West Lynn.

Samuel Taylor, No. 84 Rose street, Boston.

Jack Kaplan, No. 106 Wayland street, Roxbury.

WOMAN ADMITS SHE POISONED 7TH HUSBAND

Ohio Authorities Probing Fate or Whereabouts of Her Six Other Mates

Mt. Gilead, O., July 16 (Universal).—After securing the confession of Mrs. Elnora Yeoman, that she had poisoned her seventh husband, Lewis Yeoman, County Prosecutor T. B. Mayer and his staff decided to investigate the whereabouts or fate of her former mates.

This woman, in her alleged confession, it is said thus far to have failed to state her motive.

Suspicions at the sudden and mysterious illness of Yeoman, his stomach was sent to Columbus, where chemists reported it to contain poison. Yeoman died two weeks ago.

NEW LOVE IS SEEN IN OUIDA'S SUIT

OUIDA BERGERE

Friends of the scenario writer who is seeking a "friendly" divorce from George Fitzmaurice, motion picture director, in Paris believe that she is planning to wed Basil Rathbone, the English actor. Rathbone told a friend as much after seeing her off at the boat in New York. He followed her to Paris a week later.

ACTOR TRAILS OUIDA TO EUROPE

Friends Believe She Will Marry Basil Rathbone After Her Divorce

New York, July 17.—"Off with the old love, on with the new."

That, you may apply to the unwinding of Ouida Bergere, scenario writer, wife of George Fitzmaurice, motion picture director. She is now in Paris, seeking a "friendly" divorce. The answer will not be given until six months hence, friends say.

A week after Mrs. Fitzmaurice sailed on the Leviathan July 5, Basil Rathbone, well-known English actor, also sailed on the President Roosevelt.

That in itself would not be strange, but friends recall that he accompanied Mrs. Fitzmaurice to the pier and gave careful attention to her comfort. For a half hour before the ship sailed he was closeted with her in her cabin. They also recall that his face, when he emerged from the interior, was radiant.

An acquaintance of Rathbone commented:

"When Basil left Ouida's cabin before she sailed I asked him the cause of the happiness that was so plain in his face. He replied that she had promised to marry him as soon as she was free."

Rathbone is thirty-two, tall and strikingly handsome.

BODY OF BABY IN COURT AS EVIDENCE

Atlantic City, July 16.—The embalmed body of a five-months-old baby was produced as evidence at the trial in the Atlantic county court of Mrs. Pearl Willard and John J. Gillen, a former boarder at the Willard house, who are charged with suffocating the infant and then hiding the body in a discarded mattress near the highway about seven months ago.

The corpse was placed in evidence notwithstanding objection made to Supreme Court Justice Campbell by counsel for the defense, who argued such a procedure was without legal precedent.

Mrs. Helen von Pogering, mother of Hammond A. Willard, missing husband of the defendant, sat in the first row of seats and as the little form was bared, seemed to be much affected.

Mrs. von Pogering testified that she had kept the baby from a few days after birth until a short time before its death, because it was an unwelcome visitor in the Willard household.

Police Surgeon John T. Beckwith testified that there were no marks of violence on the body when found.

HUB DOCTORS IN VETS' BUREAU COUNCIL

Washington, July 16.—Appointment of a council of medical and hospital affairs, comprised of nineteen prominent physicians, to aid the Veterans' Bureau in improving its service, was announced by Director Hines.

The council, which will visit various centres of the bureau throughout the country, will hold its first conference with General Hines and Dr. E. O. Crossman, medical director of the bureau, in Washington July 22-24.

"In rendering advisory service to the bureau," said General Hines, "the members of the council may be asked to give opinions on some of the details which give no concern in general, and it is desired that they consider, as specialists and as ex-service men, the broad aspects of the needs of the war disabled and the best methods of extending assistance to them in line with other legislation and the regulations now in force."

The council includes among its specialists: W. C. Bapolage, New Haven, Conn.; Joel E. Goldthwaite, Boston; Frank Billings, Rhode Island; G. M. Kline, Boston and Douglas A. Thom, Boston.

RODMAN CUP WON BY BRITISH STOKERS

Plymouth, Eng., July 16.—Stokers of the British warship Warspite today won the Rodman cup, presented to the British fleet by Admiral Hugh Rodman, who commanded the American operations with the British in the last war. Each battleship in the Atlantic fleet entered one entire. The Rodman race is the supreme test of its regatta, its winning crew being hailed as champion of the fleet.

Admiral Sir John De Roebeck, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, messaged Admiral Rodman that there was the greatest enthusiasm shown in the race for the cup.

One of the most irritating offenders in the matter of halitosis (unpleasant breath) is the salesman who suffers this way and, usually, doesn't know it himself.

HIS sense of humor suggested it. But he really did it in self-defense to safeguard himself against that ever-present, eager type of salesman who pulls his chair up close, talks right into your face—and, too often, is an offender in the matter of halitosis (unpleasant breath).

You know the kind. Too often, poor fellows, they don't know it themselves. And their friends don't have the heart to tell them.

That's the insidious thing about halitosis (unpleasant breath). But fortunately there is a way to overcome it—the regular, systematic use of Listerine, the safe, liquid antiseptic and deodorant, used as a mouth wash and gargle.

Test the remarkable deodorizing effects of Listerine this way: Apply a little onion to your hand. Then apply Listerine. Allow it to remain a moment. Then note how the onion odor has entirely disappeared.

Your druggist has Listerine: three sizes: 3 ounce, 7 ounce and 14 ounce bottles.—Lambert Pharmacal Company, Saint Louis, U. S. A.

DETAINED BABY FIGHT TO GO TO COOLIDGE

Somerville Folk Plan Petition to Keep Mrs. Barbara's Child in U. S.

Mayor John M. Webster and a number of other leading citizens of Somerville have taken the lead in a movement to avert the tragedy that faces Mrs. Paul Barbara of Somerville and her year and a half old baby held at Ellis Island.

The baby was born in Italy. Mrs. Barbara's husband and two older children have already been admitted to this country after a trip to Italy. Mrs. Barbara herself, may enter, but she must give up her baby for deportation.

The two older children await the arrival of their mother in Somerville. The husband, broken-hearted, sits outside the gates at Ellis Island, fearing the worst.

Mayor Webster has announced that he will personally take up the matter with the United States Immigration commission, to see if the alien quota bars can be lifted high enough for the Barbara baby to squeeze through. Other prominent citizens are backing him and will use their influence with Washington to admit the child along with its mother.

In the meantime, residents of Somerville are planning to draw up and sign a monster petition to be presented personally to President Coolidge asking that he take some hand in the matter.

So far the immigration officials have remained adamant. Mrs. Barbara, who came to this country when a child and was educated in Cambridge, can leave Ellis Island anytime she chooses, but her baby must remain behind.

Son Is Sentenced to Year for Taking Father's Auto

The District Court of Chelsea seems to have settled very decisively the question which has been bothering a great many young men whose fathers have automobiles, "Can I take pa's car without permission?"

In the eyes of the law a son has no particular rights in his father's property so long as pa is alive. Taking pa's flivver without permission proved a rather tough proposition for Wilfred Gosselin of Aldenville, for the court sentenced him to serve one year in the House of Correction for the offence, and it was father that was the complainant.

N. Y. PUBLISHER TO PRODUCE PLAYS

New York, July 16—Horace Liveright, well-known publisher, heads a new firm of theatrical producers just incorporated in Albany, with offices at No. 61 West 48th street. This firm, it is said, will produce plays by young American dramatists, and will do for the development of the American theatre what Mr. Liveright as head of his publishing firm has done in bringing out such young American authors as Waldo Frank, Eugene O'Neil, Ben Hecht and others.

City Councilor James A. "Jerry" Watson of Roxbury announces he is a candidate for State Senator from Wards 13, 14 and 15.

Watson's participation in the fight in the Roxbury wards will cause some uneasiness among the politicians of that section. There is hardly anyone in the city who knows the fine arts of campaigning as well as "Jerry."

PHONE CHARGES TOO HIGH, SAYS EXPERT

Mildram Submits Results of His Investigation of Worcester Switch Boards

The New England Telephone & Telegraph Company is now receiving more than it should from private branch exchanges in Worcester, Samuel H. Mildram, an expert for the state of Iowa, testified after an analysis of figures presented by the company to the state Department of Public Utilities.

The witness studied his figures after those submitted from a "personal examination in Worcester in support of the company's request for an increase in rates. They were made at the suggestion of the department at the request of Corporation Counsel E. Mark Sullivan.

"Making a careful analysis of the Worcester figures," said Mildram, "I am convinced that existing rates are already too high and that this is not at the service is at the present time furnishing all or more revenue than it should be called upon to produce."

SUBMITS RESULTS.

He summarized throughout his testimony that routine versus from traffic and not from equipment.

From the 258 private exchange boards in Worcester, he said, the company receives an average of $4.74 cents per message, or a total of $297,215. The study was based on figures for 1923.

One important asset of the company in the private exchange boards, which should be credited, is the number of toll messages received over them, the revenue from which exceeds the amount of money collected in rentals.

A contention of the company that the average installation of the private exchange boards was but seven and one-half years was disputed by Mildram. He said that the installation stated on an average of eight and two-thirds years, and applied formulas where original installation was made more than twenty years ago.

OPERATORS' WAGE.

Using a chart prepared by the American Telephone Company, the parent organization of the New England company, he showed where the former estimated the number of intercommunicating calls at a little more than 41 per cent, whereas the New England company estimated them as high as 71 per cent.

"The company in its plea for higher rates," he pointed out, "laid particular stress on the service to the subscriber."

He contended that the company is enabled, through the private operation of these switchboards, for which he fixed the average salary of the operator at $900 a year, to make tremendous savings.

In accepting the $900 figure, he drew the commission's attention to a survey made by the retail store board of the Boston Chamber of Commerce which showed the average wage of the operator to be $1,200 a year.

CHARGES TOO HIGH.

In Worcester, he said, subscribers using private boards are paying at the rate of two and one half cents more a call than those using individual lines.

He estimated that the new rates asked for by the company would mean an increase ranging from 33 to 300 per cent, in board rentals. In Worcester, the investment in boards amounts to but $162,000, he said.

Mildram contended that the proposed rates are higher than any of the Bell companies.

Charles S. Pierce, general counsel for the telephone company, declined to say that the rate in Philadelphia is higher.

According to Mildram, there is no logical consistency in the schedule of rates prepared by the company.

"All the traffic will bear," commented Attorney Sullivan.

Comparing the proposed rates with those allowed temporarily in New York, Mildram said:

"The company proposed to increase the cordless type from $1.40 in $4.50; semi-multiple cords of ten lines from $2 to $8; $1 to 60 lines from $4 to $16; $1 to 80 lines from $5 to 18; $1 to 160 lines from $5 to $24; 201 to 260 lines from $8 to $24; 261 to 360 lines, $9 to $24. New York received $2.42.

William H. O'Brien, chief of the telephone and telegraph division of the State Department of public utilities will take the stand today as a witness for the city and will be called upon to enumerate the many complaints regarding poor service received by the department.

COOLIDGE TO STAY IN WASHINGTON

Washington, July 16.—President Coolidge will spend the rest of the summer in Washington unless something unforeseen develops. The summer so far has been cool and the President has told friends he and Mrs. Coolidge has found the White House quite comfortable and have made no plans other than to remain there. Week-end trips on the Mayflower afford more real rest, in the President's opinion, than would a stay of several weeks outside the capital.

MRS. 'JACK' GARDNER RALLIES SLIGHTLY

PRIZE AWARDS PLANNED FOR N. E. WEEK

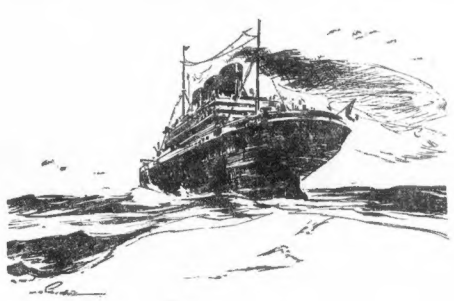
Slogan, Editorial and Poster Competitions Are Announced

Proposals to offer prizes for a New England Week slogan, for the best editorial written by a New England newspaper man, and for the best New England poster were approved at a meeting of the executive committee for New England Week, September 15 to 20.

Details will be given later by subcommittees. Today a preliminary conference of sales managers from every section of New England is being held to form plans for "Selling New England to New England."

To add its contribution to the cause of New England Week, the executive committee of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers sent a delegation to the New England Week meeting to offer entire cooperation in making New England Week a success.

Present at the executive committee meeting were John L. Lawrence, chairman; Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, vice-chairman; Thomas F. Andrews, secretary New England Shoe and Leather Association; Charles J. Chamberlain, secretary of the Massachusetts Auto Dealers' association; John Wanamaker, president of the United Trade Board; Martin T. Joyce, secretary of the Massachusetts Branch American Federation of Labor; and W. P. G. Harding, Governor Federal Reserve Bank.



Bon Voyage—
and business as usual

IN THE PAST two months the foreign and service departments of The First National have arranged for many steamship passages to Europe, have helped obtain hundreds of passports, have issued letters of credit and First National travelers' cheques to more hundreds, and have bought several millions of foreign money and deposited it abroad for European travelers.

Safe Deposit in The First National contains the valuables of many of those voyagers. The trust, commercial and savings departments have played their parts in many of these transactions.

We stand (figuratively) on every passenger pier, wishing good holiday to the largest exodus of foreign travel from the United States since the A. E. F.

And the organization of 1,600 people in The First National which has helped to move this foreign-bound army without hysteria, continues to do business "as usual."

FAILS TO GET BRIDE AFTER 200-MILE TRIP

Youth With New Auto and Photo Waits in Vain for Pittsfield Girl

Pittsfield, July 16.—Travelling 200 miles from Elmira, N. Y., in a new touring car and with the photograph of a local young woman he had received through the mail, a young man about twenty-five years old sat in front of the postoffice for several hours, gazing eagerly at each young woman who passed.

Finally he decided to take somebody into his confidence, and went into the fire station near by, where he inquired whether or not a pretty and neatly-dressed young woman had been seen in that vicinity waiting for anybody.

He confided that he had been in communication with a Pittsfield young woman and had arranged to meet her at the postoffice to discuss matrimony.

After he had spent nearly six hours keeping vigil, he decided to return to the Empire State and endeavor to win a bride through the usual course.

Army Recruiting Halted; 123,793 Men Enlisted

Washington, July 16 (Universal).—Recruiting for the army was stopped by Major General Robert C. Davis, the adjutant general, with the enlisted strength at 123,793.

Until further notice, only men with prior service will be accepted for service. Although the army is normally entitled to an enlisted strength of 123,000, the actual appropriation made by Congress covers an actual force of only 118,750.

TWO GIRLS ARE DROWNED AT BANGOR

Attempted to Swim Across Penobscot River; Bodies Are Recovered

Bangor, Me., July 16.—Two Bangor girls, Louise E. Gallant, eighteen years old, and Gertrude Doucette, seventeen years old, were drowned in the Penobscot River just below Oak Grove Spring. The girls were trying to swim and were not accustomed to the river. According to their relatives, neither of the girls could swim. The bodies were recovered almost immediately, one having floated down to the Bangor-Brewer bridge and the other having been left on the shore by the tide which was going out at the time.

OHIO POLITICIAN PUT UNDER ARREST

New York, July 16.—Harry New, former prominent Ohio politician, who was one of James M. Cox' managers in his recent Democratic national convention, was arrested here by Deputy United States Marshal Engelberg today, charged with using the mails to defraud. He was released in $5,000 bail by United States Commissioner Hitchcock.

ALLIES OPEN DAWES' PLAN CONFERENCE

Agreemen on Owen D. Young as "Reparations Agent" Assures Success of Parley

London, July 16.—The London Allied conference, the fifteenth since the Treaty of Versailles was drawn, opened today, and after a two-hour session adjourned to allow a three committees to draw up reports on various phases of the Dawes report, for which the present conference will attempt to devise a practical plan of operation.

Representatives of the ten nations participating made short addresses of optimistic tone. Premier MacDonald of England was elected chairman of the meeting and opened with a plea that the conference abandon political considerations for business-like methods.

"The Dawes plan is business-like and not political," he said. "I appeal to you to follow a similar course."

Owen D. Young of the nUited States will be appointed "reparations agent" with power to arbitrate all disputes between the Allies and Germany, it was learned.

The appointment of Young has been agreed to by the Allied Premiers. The appointment, however, will be made by the Reparations Commission and not by the Allied conference on the Dawes plan.

This announcement opened the conference most auspiciously and was hailed by the Allied diplomats as practically insuring the success of the conference, which, for a time, was threatened with failure by the differences rising between England and France.

BRITAIN OPPOSES ARMS REDUCTION

Geneva, July 16 (A.P.)—Following the rejection by the Washington government of the League of Nations pact of mutual assistance, which provides for the gradual reduction of world armaments, Great Britain and Canada now have come forward as opponents of the pact.

Both the British and the Canadian governments officially have filed their opinions with the league.

HEALTH EXPERTS TO CONFER ON TROPICS

Leading medical authorities from many countries are en route to Kingston, Jamaica, where a week's conference on "How to Make the Tropics Safe for the White Man," is scheduled for the week of July 22. The United Fruit Company, which maintains nine hospitals in the tropics along the Caribbean, has been active in bringing about the conference. Ninety doctors and health experts will attend.

During the past few years' migration from the Northern countries to the tropics has been greatly increased, and it is recognized that, if the tropics are to be made attractive, ways and means of effectually holding the tropical diseases in check must be devised.

Both the army and navy of the United States will be represented at the conference.

FIRST IMMIGRANT RUSH DUE SUNDAY

The rush of immigrants from Europe to the United States, scheduled to begin several weeks ago so as to reach these shores on July 1, but delayed owing to holding up in dispatch of new form of application to consuls abroad for distribution, is now under way.

The White Star Line steamship Celtic, from Liverpool and Queenstown, will arrive here Sunday, berthing at Commonwealth Pier, South Boston, with the first batch of newcomers to receive the coveted visa under the new alien restriction law.

FIREMAN RISKS LIFE TO SAVE BOY'S CYCLE

A Lynn fireman risked his life in a burning building to rescue the new red tricycle of eight-year-old Neale Burke.

The tricycle was in the cellar of the Summer home of the youngster's father, Patrick J. Burke at No. 18 B street. When the house caught fire and was rapidly being consumed by the flames, the youth wept loudly.

A fireman inquired as to the cause of the tears. Learning of the tricycle in the cellar of the burning building, the fireman seized a hose line, fought his way into the cellar and rescued the tricycle.

The heritage was destroyed.

ROSETTA DUNCAN FINED $1 IN COURT

Chicago, July 6.—A light fine and costs was assessed against Rosetta Duncan, and her brother, Harold, of the "Topsy and Eva" company when they were tried before Magistrate Henry Sandusky of Cicero.

Miss Rosetta was fined $1 and $5 costs, for disorderly conduct, and Harold was fined $2 and $5 costs for driving past a boulevard signal. Jack Ferrald and Vivian Duncan, the other members of the Duncan party that was arrested and harshly treated by the Cicero police July 4, when young Harold violated the town's traffic rules, were dismissed.

HOTEL MEN ELECT NEW OFFICIALS

of officers and adoption of several fiscal warrant against the appeal of amendments to their constitution was the final business transacted by the delegates to the annual convention of the American Hotel Association, which ended here.

Frank A. Dudley of Niagara Falls, N. Y., was re-elected president of the association. Frank S. Haight, manager of the New Willard, Washington, D. C., was elected vice-president for the United States, and John Davidson of Hotel Windsor, Montreal, Quebec, vice-president for Canada.

WHO WANTS TO GIVE A HOME TO A BRIGHT BABY?

MOTHER OF LITTLE BOY ASKS FOR AID

Rutland Woman Wants a Chance to Reunite Unfortunate Family

Four happy people lived under a single roof in a little house in Rutland. That was many months ago.

Illness came. The husband and father became a chronic invalid. He went away to live with relatives. Then there were three. And not so happy.

Bills accumulated, as bills will when a woman, unused to such a burden, tries to support a household by drudging for others. The little brown haired daughter was sent away to be reared as the foster child of a childless couple in rural Vermont. And there were only two.

"Buddy" and "Ma" are all that remain of the happy little family that lived together in Rutland.

And cruel necessity says that the hour for their temporary separation is near.

FIFTEEN MONTHS OLD.

"Buddy" is the baby. He is fifteen months old. His mother describes him as possessed of "adorable dimples" and fine brown eyes. Maybe she is prejudiced. But God will forgive that.

She wants to find a home for him.

The woman—call her Mrs. H. G. A., which are not her initials—has wrecked her own health doing housework. Before she married she was a "home girl," and she can do nothing else. Before her rises the vista of the fleeting years, with her working desperately and never able to earn enough to bring her little family together again under one roof in Rutland.

Here is the way she reasons it out: If someone will take the boy for a few years, she will be able to get some other kind of work, possibly in a factory or office, and study nights until she masters a trade.

BABY BOY NEEDS A HOME

Mrs. Thorne in Battle to Regain Her Son

"BUDDY DIMPLES"

Baby boy, whose mother seeks a temporary home for him while she sets out to earn a livelihood and a competence to restore to their home her invalid husband, her little daughter and "Dimples," as well as herself.

With a trade will come better pay, and with that, an opportunity to make a home again for her children and her ailing husband.

She wants, before she dies, to see them all together in a home they can call their own. Not a pretentious ambition, it would seem to one, but, to her, the program that means happiness.

"Buddy" is the last sacrifice she is prepared to make for his ultimate good and that of his sister and his dad. But she wants him back. Whoever would help her must have the spirit of real charity and not a desire to "get a boy in the house for company."

$5,000,000 SECRET HIDDEN

Threats Made by the "Master Mind" Have Sealed the Lips of Arnstein

New York, July 16.—What underworld influence strangely sealed the lips of "Nicky" Arnstein against disclosing the identity of all persons implicated in the theft of $5,000,000 in bonds during 1919 and 1920?

Why has the "master mind" suddenly refused to restore $1,000,000 of the stolen securities as he promised when brought from Leavenworth prison early in June?

These are questions that United States Attorney Hayward and District Attorney Banton are trying to solve.

"Nicky" balked on divulging the names of those implicated in the bond theft plot. He withheld the names of those "higher up." He balked on the partial restitution that was expected.

ORDERED BACK TO PRISON.

He told an assistant prosecutor that the stolen bonds were in possession of a man in New York and could be quickly recovered if he was brought to this city.

Because of Arnstein's change of heart, Federal Judge Learned Hand yesterday afternoon dismissed the writ of habeas corpus on which "Nicky" and his partner, "Nick" Coben, were brought here seven weeks ago. Judge Hand directs that they be sent to Leavenworth forthwith to serve out their two year term.

The authorities were hopeful that Arnstein would be able to clear the mystery of the slaying of Benjamin M. Blinkowitz. He was a Wall Street messenger. His hacked body was found in a Connecticut road on August 12, 1919.

RESTITUTION SUGGESTED.

District Attorney Banton disclosed the genesis and progress of negotiations with Arnstein as follows:

"The day Arnstein and Coben were sentenced in Washington for taking stolen securities into the District of Columbia, ex-Judge Robert Johnstone called on me.

"He asked if I would waive prosecution here on the two indictments charging receipt of stolen securities against Arnstein, providing Arnstein made restitution of more than $1,600,000 if the losers would certify they would be agreeable. The understanding was that his sentence in Washington should be considered as covering the offense here.

"Johnstone told me that a messenger from Arnstein had told the surety companies that many of the stolen securities could be recovered.

"Arnstein, it appears, was later advised to sit tight and the indictments could be dismissed without helping the authorities or giving up the stolen securities."

MILLIONS INVOLVED IN FIGHT FOR BOY

MRS. MARY CASEY THORNE.

On Applying to the court for custody of her son, John Wolfe Thorne, Jr., Mrs. Thorne, divorced wife of the late millionaire, learned that the boy had been placed under the guardianship of his uncle. She is now preparing to attack the validity of the guardianship decree.

WILLING TO YIELD CONTROL OF FORTUNE

New York, July 16.—With the custody of her son and millions of dollars at stake, Mrs. Mary Casey Thorne, divorced wife of Joel Wolfe Thorne, banker, fired the opening gun in a bitter legal battle.

Hearing on her application to be appointed guardian of her son, Joel Wolfe Thorne, Jr., nine, was scheduled in Surrogate Foley's court.

On being informed that the Surrogate of Dutchess County had already appointed guardians of her son's person and his estate, John J. Kirby, of counsel for the mother, immediately asked for an adjournment, in order to prepare an attack upon the validity of the Dutchess County action.

Surrogate O'Brien granted an adjournment until July 22.

In her application Mrs. Thorne requests that the Bank of Manhattan be named guardian of the estate. This was done, Kirby said, to avoid suspicion that she desired to handle the millions involved. He added:

"With the death of the father, who was granted custody of the boy, the custody automatically reverts to the mother."

On July 2 last, Samuel Thorne of Harrison, uncle of the boy, was appointed his personal guardian, and Victor C. Thorne and the Central Union Trust Company were made joint guardians of the estate.

The estate consists of more than $500,000, left by the father, and a trust fund of several millions from a grandfather. The father was killed when run over by an automobile a few days after he had obtained a divorce and the custody of the boy.

DR. FRANK CRANE ON HANDSHAKING

By DR. FRANK CRANE

CAME some days ago Dr. Francisco X. Suachelli, health expert in New York, and declared war against handshaking.

We wish to line up under Dr. Suachelli's colors and take our place among the enemies of handshaking.

We confess to a certain dislike to being pawed in any way. We always disliked old gentlemen, who, in our youth, used to pinch our ears and pat our heads.

That the amiable friend who shows his good will by pounding us on the back means well does not keep us from wanting to murder him.

And then there are those who are always catching hold of your arm and putting their hand upon your knee and otherwise massaging you.

We may be finicky, but when we need treatment we prefer to go to a Turkish bath and pay our dollar and a half and have it done by a husky who knows how.

Handshaking is merely a custom.

Still more, it is merely a symbol.

Now, a symbol or a custom is of value only because everybody has agreed to it. They could just as well agree to another one.

Therefore, we hereby move that handshaking ought to be abolished. The motion is put and carried.

Instead of a handshake we would suggest the salute. Some such gesture, for example, as is used in the army. It would be just as easy for two people to raise the hand to the forehead, or, if they prefer, to the nose, as it would be to shake each other's hand.

When we think of all the various palms we have been in contact with—hard and horny palms, sweaty palms, gooey, listless and reluctant palms, overeager and suggestive palms—we are inclined not to feel very well.

Then there is the energetic person, who thinks he must show his cordiality by grasping all of your phalanges and breaking them in his tremendous clasp. He is the man whose notion of pleasantry is pounding you on the back with a blow that loosens your back teeth.

Not, of course, that we would be persnickety. There are times. We do not pretend to deny that there are times. And when, along with the time, there comes the place and the girl, we can do our little task of handshaking and palm massaging along with the next man; but these things are not matters to be discussed in public.

JACK SHARKEY HAS SMITH OUT ON HIS FEET IN FINAL ROUND

HOMER IS DROPPED 3 TIMES

By JACK CONWAY.

"I would now like to rock one of my heavy right hand punches off Firpo's jaw."

This was the statement made by Jack Sharkey, greatest fighter now developed in New England since the days of the immortal John L. Sullivan, after he battered the rugged Homer Smith of Michigan into submission in their tempestuous battle at the Suffolk A. A.'s opening show at Braves Field.

The big crowd that turned out for the contest was greatly impressed by Sharkey's amazing speed and terrific punching power. He won over Smith in much more masterly style than did Firpo of Wills.

The Michigan heavyweight, ten pounds heavier than Sharkey, was out on his feet when the bell sounded for the end of the tenth frame. Twice in the last session he was battered to the canvas and on each occasion he took the benefit of the count of nine.

Smith hung on to Sharkey much like a drowning man clutches at the proverbial straw. Before Jack Sheehan had his hands fully prying Homer off the Roxbury sensation. If it hadn't been for his ability at clinging to Sharkey, Smith would never have gone the distance.

SHARKEY scored another knockdown in the third round. The three knockdowns were the result of right hand punches.

Sharkey's deadly body blows, however, were what really caused Smith's downfall. Prior to the knockdown in the third round, Sharkey dazed Smith by scoring with a mighty right hand sock to the pit of the stomach. As Homer doubled up, Jack straightened him up with a left hook to the jaw and then dropped him to the canvas with a sharp right hand sock to the jaw. Sharkey tried hard to end matters in the third frame, but Smith's holding tactics enabled him to weather the fierce attack of the Roxbury warrior.

THE final round had all the thrills of a great heavyweight contest. Sharkey went out for a kayo from the bell. He backed Smith by his tremendous speed. He avoided his rival's ponderous punches, drove left and right hands to the body in true Dempsey fashion, rocked his opponent with a left hook and then dropped him to the canvas with a right hand punch.

Homer's eyes were glassy as he took the count. His knees were unsteady when he resumed boxing. He fell into a clinch and held for dear life. Referee Sheehan was enlisted to pry the heavy mass from Sharkey. Increased the fury of his attack, once more weakened Smith with body blows and then sent him to the canvas in a heap from the effects of another right hand wallop to the jaw. Again Smith took the benefit of the count.

Smith only lasted the final by holding for all he was worth during the last part of the session.

It was announced that Sharkey weighed 185 pounds, while Smith scaled 192½ pounds.

SHARKEY proved he can take a punch as well as give one. Smith soured with a dozen swinging left hooks which landed flush on Sharkey's jaw. The latter, much like Dempsey when he was hit by Firpo, only fought harder after being stung.

BATTLING McCREARY, world's featherweight fistic champion, conquered Leo Gates, the Mohawk Indian, in the semi-final of ten rounds. This bout was filled with action. In the early part of the battle, it appeared as though Gates might win. He did some splendid work at long range, while he also showed to advantage at infighting. McCreary refused to admit defeat, however, at the hands of the local fighter. He kept forcing the issue, pounding away at his opponent's head and body.

Beginning with the sixth round, Gates weakened and was defeated by a comfortable margin. McCreary displayed the best fighting form he has ever shown in this city. He would make a fine opponent for Harry Wills.

WOLF LARSEN continued his winning ways by knocking out Dan Lennon of Canoe Breeze in three rounds. Larsen has apparently recovered from the effects of his recent operation.

JIM MALONEY, South Boston boxer-wrestler, surprised some of the wise ones when he stopped Jim Hanley in a round. Maloney put punch and speed in hand from the start of the session.

MORE than 8,000 fans witnessed Boston's first open air show of the season. Six powerful fights were on the program. Manager Jim Buckley is to be congratulated on the success of the affair.

Jack Conway Picked Four Winners at Suffolk A. A. Show

Jack Conway, world's champion cocktail mixer, gave evidence of the Boston American four winners at the Suffolk A. A. show at Braves Field.

Jack said Jack Sharkey, Dempsey's most dangerous rival, would defeat Homer Smith. And he did.

Battling McCreary also came through with a victory over Leo Gates as Jack predicted he would.

So did Jim Maloney and Wolf Larsen punch their way into the win column.

Jack has picked 87 winners out of a possible 109 this year.

The Cambridge Catholic Club, rated as one of the best semi-pro baseball clubs in the city, will meet the Fort Banks team tonight at Cambridge Field, making from the Methodist Park baseball league. The Fort Banks team is composed of players who have seen service in the Boston Navy Yard league. The game will be called at 6:30 o'clock.

Cambridge has a strong lineup and will present Jack Sullivan on the mound. Manager Jim Buckley has a team which is fast afield and hits hard. Buckley will send Jack Sullivan to the mound for the Cambridge team.

YALE-CRIMSON NET TEAM VICTORIOUS

Stamford Hill, England, July 14.—The Yale and Harvard tennis teams today defeated the Stamford Hill Lawn tennis club by five matches to three. The Yale team consisted of Tom Bundy, Wallace Scott, Ralph Strachan, Ted Hardy and Ellsworth Vines. The Harvard team was composed of Arthur Ware, Wallace Johnson and Ralph Burdick.

Bundy won his singles match from Ware, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4. Scott defeated Johnson, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4. Strachan lost to Burdick, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4. Hardy defeated Ware and Johnson in doubles, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4. Vines and Bundy won from Burdick and Strachan, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

$250,000 French Colt Here for Fortune

Epinard gives us our first "O-O" at him as he is unblanketed on the pier. American horse experts were unanimous in declaring him "all horse."

M. EPINARD (MEANS SPINACH), DOESN'T PARLAY VOOS ENGLISH, BUT HE THINKS U. S. IS O. K.

Monsieur Epinard, of France, parlayvoos no English, but he thinks the country is O. K., and the hay most excellent. Of this we are assured by Monsieur Epinard's traveling companion, Satin Slippers, who had a slight smattering of English as she is spoke in equine circles.

Monsieur Epinard is at this writing occupying a palatial suite in A. K. Macomber's horse-telry down at Belmont Park, with Satin Slippers in an antechamber, the pair having disembarked from the good ship Berengaria.

M. Epinard, as you may have heard, is the celebrated French race horse which has come to America to race against the best of the American horses.

Those in France they claim Epinard is the greatest steed that ever peeked through a bridle, and they want to prove it to the skeptical American horse owners.

Epinard, a name which in English is nothing more poetical than spinach, is the glory of attention at the post.

They first established Epinard to fame by walking off with the big end of four West of New York's famous skyline; then they acquired him out of the country, and he is now to be seen at the Belmont Park stable, dining from the pockets of the Pentagram, and deporting him gently on American sod.

After Epinard had posed for the moving picture cameras from which he celebrated landing in America via steam of Worcester will again oppose Epinard, he was shooed into Joseph E. Widener's French horse van and motored to Belmont.

It was in the van you see that Pierre, the English horse, was taunted about when he came to America last year.

Epinard is a distinguished looking horse, a rich chestnut in color, six feet hands high, and around 1,100 pounds in weight.

Eugene Leigh, an American, who trains Epinard, says he has brought a great race horse to this country and thinks he will win most of the match races in which Epinard will engage at Belmont, Aqueduct and Latonia.

Pierre Wertheimer, well known sportsman of France, owns the horse, which he valued at $100,000. Epinard is insured for $100,000.

Epinard seems to be more tranquil than Pegeen, anyway. The horse fretted very little even during the landing, and was as quiet as a kitten on the trip to Belmont Park.

There Epinard is to rest a few days and then be taken to Saratoga, where arrangements have been made for his housing by H. T. Wilson, Jr., president of the Saratoga Racing Association.

OLIVE HOLLAND WILL RACE TITLEHOLDER

The swimming events of the Winthrop Highland Association Water Carnival, July 19, will be of great interest to all followers of this sport. Olive Holland, national mile champion, who won the 440 yard and 100 yard New England Championship will attempt to retain his title in this event, the New England 220 yard Championship will also be run off between Winn Marine, 220 yard and 100 yard New England Champion versus Joe McCarthy, 440 and 880 yard New England Champion. In the Open Diving James Foley, the New England champion, is the star competitor.

MEDFORD C. C. PLAYS SOMERVILLE CIVICS

Eddie McDonald's Medford City Club will cross bats with the Somerville Civics next Saturday afternoon at Tufts Park, Medford. The Medford brigade has suffered but one defeat in twelve starts while the Civics are represented by a formidable semi-pro nine.

Cantabs Play Tie

North Cambridge and Abbot Worsted played a 4 to 3 tie yesterday in a Twilight game at Russell Field, North Cambridge. A rally by Abbot tied up the score in the eighth and almost gave the visitors the lead. There were men on first and third in this session with one out, but a double play saved the day for the Cambridge team.

Quinn and Keefe both played well for North Cambridge. Two hits by Dameron featured in the Abbot work.

YALE FAVORED TO WIN EIGHT OARED RACE

Argenteuil, France, June 16.—The Yale crew, representative of the United States in the Olympic eight-oared race, easily took the second heat of the preliminaries.

The victory put them in the finals, which come on tomorrow, and was a brilliant exhibition of unremarkable interest at no time did it seem that Yale 'Varsity Leader's men were extending themselves to their utmost.

The subdebutantes of Uncle Sam won by a victory by a little short of four lengths over the Canadian Argonauts second, and Holland, third. The Americans were clocked in 5 minutes 51 seconds for the 2,000-meter course.

The judges decided to disqualify France for crossing the path of Argentina water line and to have Argentina and Belgium row today with those crews finishing second today to see which crew shall compete with the first place winners in the heats in the finals on Thursday.

Italy took the third heat today with Australia second and Spain third.

The crews of the United States, Italy and Great Britain and the winner of the race among the second crews in their race today will meet on Thursday for the Olympic laurels.

In the first heat of the doubles pistol championship the Americans, Jack Kelly and Paul Costello, easily beat the French pair, Switzerland won the second heat with Brazil second. These four sculling crews all qualified for the finals.

CUBS' PRESIDENT TO PROTEST GIANTS' WIN

Chicago, July 16.—President William Veeck of the Chicago National League team, announced the New York-Chicago game would be protested to President Heydler of the National League.

The protest will be based upon the reversal of the decision by Umpire Klem on Catcher Hartnett for tinting. With men on first and second, Grigsby ostensibly was passed. Porter, on second base, started for third, but was run down between the bases. The out was allowed when Umpire Klem reversed Klem's decision, asserting that Grigsby had swung at the ball but pitched. thus making a double play.

Guilford Does 64

Playing in a four-ball match at the Woodland G. C. Jesse Guilford went around the course in seven strokes under par. He was out in 33 and came home in 31, doing the eighteenth in a par 3 hole, registering an eagle 3 at the seventeenth. At the home hole he scored a birdie 2. He missed a short putt at the six teenth for a second birdie.

'WEE WILLIE' IS A TERRIFIC PUNCHER

Wee Willie Woods.

Wee Willie Woods, Scotch flyweight champion, is busy training at Wamesit for his ten round bout with Pancho Villa, world's flyweight boss, which will be staged in the Armory A. A. at Mechanics Building, Lowell, Monday night.

Woods has completely recovered from his recent attack of tonsilitis. He displayed all of his old pep in a strenuous session out with Frank Moody, English middleweight. Moody says Woods is a sure winner and that he may knock out Villa.

Woods will remain at Wamesit until the day of the bussle. Manager Ames says his protege will be in the best condition of his career when he enters the ring against the colorful Filipino.

Woods is the best flyweight to be developed in Great Britain since the days of Jimmy Wilde. He has twice defeated Elky Clark, British flyweight champion. Unfortunately for Woods, he scored his two wins prior to the time Clark won the championship.

Wee Willie has made a decided hit with Wamesit boxing fans. His aggressive tactics, courage and ability to punch have enabled him to batter the opposition into submission.

ACUTE INDIGESTION TAKES RACE HORSE

Sunflash (Upright), who was raced over the Grand Circuit for two years by Walter R. Cox, died at the Eastern States track, Springfield, following an attack of acute indigestion. The horse was owned by Frank D. Whitcomb of this city, who bought him from Cox for Fall for a reported price of $5,000.

Short Sports of All Sorts

JACK DEMPSEY, world's heavyweight champion, will do no fighting this year, says Jack Kearns, his manager, here arranging for the appearance of the champion in Chicago theatres.

The titleholder's manager said there was no opponent in view for Dempsey whose time is taken up filling contracts with moving picture concerns.

Abe Goldstein, world bantamweight champion, will defend his crown against Charlie Ledoux, veteran French contender, in a 15-round bout at the New York Velodrome tonight. Although Goldstein will enter the ring a strong favorite, the Frenchman is expected to furnish stiff opposition. This is Ledoux's third trip to America in quest of the title.

Middleweight laurels encircle the brow of Ted Moore of England today as a result of his decisive decision on points of Morris Schlafer of Omaha, Neb., in a ten-round bout at Henderson Bowl in Brooklyn. Moore outgeneralled his opponent from start to finish of the match.

New York, July 16.—The greatest assemblage of foreign tennis players ever to invade America at one time will arrive during the latter part of July and the first week in August. In addition to the American Olympic representatives, who are due to return late this month, the Mexican, Chinese and Australian Davis Cup teams will visit this country within the next few weeks.

The Fort Miami 2.07 trot for a purse of $3,000 is the headline attraction on the card for the third day's grand circuit racing at Fort Miami track, Toledo, today. Sharp prominence with the Fort Miami is the Mooney, with a purse of $2,000 for three-yearold pacers. A 2.12 trot and 2.07 pace for $1,000 purses complete the card.

Play in the Illinois State Tennis goes into the third round today with all but two of the leading contenders still in the running and in superb form. William T. Tilden, 2d, of Philadelphia, national champion, who disposed of two opponents yesterday in less than an hour, is expected to encounter little difficulty in overcoming his opposition today.

Charles Johnston, manager of Johnny Dundee, world's featherweight champion, was suspended by the New York State Athletic Commission today for his refusal to sign the contract submitted to him by Dennis McManus. Louis (Kid) Kaplan's manager, for the proposed Kaplan-Dundee title match.

Straight heats ruled at the opening of the Bay State circuit meet at Northampton, just seven being required to decide the three events, two of which were for $2,000. A small crowd watched the races.

C. Earl Pittman won his second race in as many weeks with intermediate Dillon, the bay horse handling the field of 2.35 trotters in nice style.

Black Gold, winner of the $50,000 Kentucky Derby, and Chilhowee, conqueror of Black Gold in the Latonia Derby, will not seek in a special match race July 26.

John C. Gallagher, owner of Chilhowee, tonight advised Judge Joseph A. Murphy, general manager of the Hawthorne course, that Chilhowee would be unable to meet Black Gold, as the colt was out of training.

Miss Mary K. Browne of Santa Monica, Cal., ex-national women's tennis champion, will compete in the invitation tournament of the Seabright Lawn Tennis and Cricket Club at Seabright, N. J., beginning July 24. This will be her first appearance in the East in three years.

W. P. Mellen of Garden City, L. I., who stroked the last two eight-oared Oxford crews, came home in the steerage of the Majestic. He is the son of Chase Mellen, the New York lawyer.

NANTASKET TRIP BRINGS JOY TO 3,000 CHILDREN

By GRACE DESCHAMPS

"O—oh, lin—gered awh—ile——"

Two boatloads of kids, making with their mothers 3,000 persons, sang the popular refrain lustily—just as though they weren't the tiredest and sunburntest youngsters that ever swung up the harbor after one of the greatest bals in their young lives.

It was a great day—one of the greatest, in fact, that ever ushered in the opening outing of the annual series of Nantasket trips tendered the mothers and children of Greater Boston by the Boston American.

CLOUDLESS SKY.

The sun shone without a cloud to cover it the long day through and a cool breeze tempered the warmth until the youngsters pronounced it "just right!"

Long before nine o'clock a line of shining faces were watching the boat slip sweetly, tickets in hand, where the Rose Standish lay at her berth.

Their excitement made them squirm and dart out of line, but all in all they were an orderly batch of merry-makers. But when the whistle blew! Only the stayings hands of cautious mothers kept several hundred clawing youngsters from popping over the side.

"Whadda ya say, Bud?" Thomas Gibbons of Bunker Hill street, Charlestown, gave John Loughlin of the same general neighborhood, a resounding thump on the back, emitting a man-sized chuckle at the same time.

FREE ICE CREAM.

"Ain't it great! I'll tell the world it is!"

"Aint what great?" demanded Loughlin.

"This sail, you mutt!"

"Aw, this ain't the half of it! They's ice cream an' cake an' milk and crackers an' candy an' everything when ya get there. I been down on this trip las' year, an' I'm tellin' ya, kid, it's the cat's ankle!"

And two nine-year-old kids watched the custom house tower grow smaller and smaller, watched the fresh beauty of ships and shining green islands take the place of hot, ugly streets. Young Loughlin and Gibbons were supremely happy.

So were the rest of the Boston American's little guests. Maria Cinotti of Fleet street, Helen O'Connell of Dorchester avenue, Marion Higgins of Broadway, Everett, and countless numbers of other small citizens mingled together and were just plain youngsters for the day.

Sunny as Nantasket huge crowds, most are going back laden with food, greeted the crowds. Three huge truckloads of Berwick cake disappeared down innumerable throats, followed by more than a thousand quarts of fresh, sweet milk from the farms of Francis S. Cummings. There were loads of smooth, luscious ice cream from the Bustleton Cream Company.

And while youngsters and their mothers squatted about the cool beach, eating their lunches, Miss May Killion appeared from somewhere with flocks of rubber balls and toys from the James W. Brine Company, sporting goods firm. And then the ever-present Moxie Man came along with more surprises in the shape of multi-colored balloons that the wind caught merrily and tossed along the beach.

CURLEY ON HAND.

No one less than Mayor Curley, who has a soft spot in his heart for kids, happened along finally.

Hurrying with the cares of the city, the Mayor stopped to watch the happy children.

"That's a thing for a newspaper to do, now, isn't it?" he demanded. "I guess the Boston American is one of the kids' best friends on a hot day!"

Cut the coupons, kids, and join the crowd. Five coupons—Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Then present the coupons at No. 248 Devonshire street on Saturday. The eats and the trip will be free. Only mother or some grown-up must be along, too!

See Page 2 for Coupon.

TO CUT ROUND TRIP ATLANTIC FARES

Round trip fares in second and third class transatlantic traffic are to be reduced in the near future, as a result of the recent conference in England of representatives of the principal steamship companies. It is said the cut will amount to 10 per cent. The question of increasing west-bound rates, discussed at the conference, is unsettled, and negotiations looking toward an agreement are going on.

SOLDIERS' FRIEND SOLVES ALL BONUS PROBLEMS

Are you a veteran? Have you that perplexed feeling when you start puzzling out the bonus, and your rights and privileges therein?

Try this prescription.

Sit down today and submit your problems to the Advertiser-American Soldier's Friend Bureau. That's what the bureau is for. Every day it serves hundreds of veterans. It has been of invaluable assistance to many in your plight.

Let us help you. A two-cent stamp and a plainly worded question will bring you the right answer, quickly. The bureau has access to information you cannot get readily. It exists to answer not merely general questions, but questions of special, individual interest. Below you will get some idea of the questions your fellows are submitting daily. Give the prescription a trial and note the improvement.

R. E. S., BOSTON, MASS.

Q.—Is it necessary to send my discharge papers along with the bonus application?

A.—Veterans are cautioned not to send discharge papers with bonus applications. The blanks should be filled out from the information contained in the discharge papers. If the discharge papers have been lost or mislaid, the questions should be answered from memory as fully as possible.

T. F. O'C., DORCHESTER, MASS.

Q.—My brother is a disabled veteran of the World War and is at present in Ireland for treatment. How should he make out the bonus application?

A.—A bonus blank with instruction sheet is being mailed to you to be forwarded to your brother in Ireland. The instruction sheet should be read over carefully and followed in filling out the application. The veteran, if alive and is able to write, is the only person eligible to make the application, and it need not be sworn to.

J. P. K., CHARLESTOWN, MASS.

Q.—(1) During the World War I served on board a ship which went out of New York every day and swept for mines, coming into port at night. Am I entitled to overseas service? (2) I enlisted August 13, 1914, and was honorably discharged January 17, 1918. I reenlisted the same day and was honorably discharged August 12, 1918. How much will I be entitled to?

A.—(1) Your service on board a mine sweeper will be regarded as overseas service. (2) From your length of service you will be entitled to the maximum credit of $625, which when turned into a twenty year paid-up insurance certificate will have a face value of about $1,100.

Mrs. L. D. LeC., MALDEN.

Q.—My husband was in the army from June 15, 1918, to January 14, 1919. How much will his insurance amount to? As he cannot read or write please advise me how he can make application.

A.—If your husband cannot read or write and cannot get a friend to help him make out the application, he should come to our Bureau at HAYWARD PLACE with his discharge papers, where he will receive the necessary assistance. Your husband served a total of 219 days. After deducting the first 60 days he will be credited with 159 days of service at $1.00 a day for home service, and $1.25 a day for overseas service. This sum, when multiplied by 20, will give the approximate face value of the insurance certificate which he will receive.

A. J. J., NEWPORT, R. I.

Q.—I served in the navy from December, 1913, to September, 1919, receiving an honorable discharge. During this period I served on a transport from August, 1917, to September, 1919. What will my bonus amount to?

A.—You will be entitled to receive the maximum credit of $625, and the face value of your 20 year paid-up insurance certificate which will be issued to you, will amount to about $1,000.

A. M., BOSTON, MASS.

Q.—I enlisted in the navy April 6, 1917, and was honorably discharged on July 8, 1917, for being under age and the only support of my mother. Can I get any bonus?

A.—You will be entitled to receive the benefits of the Bonus Act as you received an honorable discharge from the United States navy.

H. P., BROCKTON, MASS.

Q.—I was in the army nine months and seventeen days and have got an honorable discharge. I enlisted at Fort Adams, R. I., September 26, 1920. Please inform me if I am entitled to the bonus.

A.—You are not entitled to the benefits of the Bonus Law because you did not enter the service between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918, as provided by that law.

3 MINUTE JOURNEYS

By Temple Manning

WHEN Robert Edwin Peary was a young officer in the United States Navy he read a description of Greenland which so stimulated his imagination and aroused his love for adventure that he determined to see the land some day.

After receiving the financial and moral support of Mrs. Morris Jesup, and the Peary Arctic Club, Peary started on his first expedition to the Pole in 1898 in the "Roosevelt," a ship especially built and equipped to meet all the emergencies in the Arctic regions. It had been discovered that most other attempts to reach the North Pole had failed because the ships used were not strong enough to withstand the force of great masses of floating ice.

The first attempt failed, as did several subsequent attempts, but Peary achieved the exact survey of Greenland's northern limits and reached a point farther north than anyone else had ever done.

On July 6, 1908, a company made up of Commander Peary, Rear Admiral Marvin, Donald B. McMillan, Dr. G. W. Goodsell and George Borup left New York on the expedition which finally proved successful. Arrangements had been made for relief expeditions and the assistance of a company of Eskimos.

At Etah, in Greenland, they took on the Eskimos and two hundred and seventy-six dogs. On the River the "Roosevelt" reached Cape Sheridan it was midwinter and the waters about them were freezing fast. Commander Peary ordered that they go no farther and the "Roosevelt" was soon firmly locked in the ice.

From that time on all movement northward was made either on foot or on sledges pulled by dogs. When on April 6, 1909, the Pole was finally reached, there were left only Commander Peary, Mat Henson, his faithful colored assistant, and four Eskimos.

The American flag was hoisted at the Pole, photographs were taken of the surrounding country and the party returned to the "Roosevelt" with the great tidings of their success. Not until two months later, however, did the ice break to thaw and enable them to start home.

The Helping Hand

Mother Unable to Get Work

Editor Helping Hand:

My husband has been dead eight months and I have three little children to support. I only get ten dollars a week and out of that I have $5.50 to pay for rent. I am not able to get any work to do at all just now as things are awful bad here. My children and myself need clothes. My little ones are a baby, almost two years old, and a boy, five, and a girl, eight. I hope from the bottom of my heart that you will help my little orphans.

MRS. H. K.

Dresses for Girls

Editor Helping Hand:

I have a good-sized box of dresses for girls 6 and 8 and a Winter coat for a girl 14 and a few things for a baby about 2. If possible I would like these things to go to some family in New Hampshire.

MRS. D. R. F.

Thank you. We are sending the address of Mrs. D. L. W., who lives in your state, and can use the things you are going away.

For One Family

Editor Helping Hand:

I have several things for a girl about eight, a dress, size 38; shoes, 6, and a hat for a woman and several odd pieces and a piece of corduroy pants for a boy of nine. Please send me the address of some one who can use these things. As they are all done up I prefer to have them go to one family.

MRS. C. G. N.

Thank you. Mrs. M. H. B.'s family just "matches" what you have, so we are sending her address.

For Girl 8 to 12

I have some dresses that will do some girls 8 and 12 years old. Please send me the address of some one who will be able to use these things.

W. B. G.

Thank you. Mrs. B. F. T., whose address has been sent you, has two little girls the ages you mention, greatly in need of clothes.

Orphan Pleads

Editor Helping Hand:

I am a young girl. I live in one room and have neither father nor mother. It is dreadfully lonely and I wonder is there are not some kind people who have no children that will take me under their wing, in exchange for what food I would afford to pay and the three years of saved-up love and companionship. I work in an office in Boston, and I hope someone in or around Watertown, or in that direction will hear my plea.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. F. X. Mahoney,
Boston Health Commissioner.

A SELF-REGISTERING clinical thermometer is something that should be in every home. In fact, there should be one in the armomete for each member of the family for the careful and close observance of the temperature in case of detecting bodily ailments seen before recognizable symptoms appear.

Dr. Mahoney.

The average normal bodily temperature is 98.4 degrees, but there are persons in perfect health whose temperature range is as low as 97.5 degrees and as high as 99.4 degrees.

A person should ascertain his own average temperature by taking it daily and keeping a chart. Then any decided change in temperature can be taken as a warning that there is something wrong.

Shake down the mercury in the thermometer until it reads 95 degrees or lower. Then place the bulb under the tongue, close the lips and hold the thermometer in the mouth for a minute or two. Read and record the temperature.

An alcohol rub, have finished using the thermometer, is to sterilize it. To this by immersing it in a solution of lysol or bichloride of mercury for half an hour. Then rinse it in clear water, dry it on a clean cloth and put in the case. Do not fail to sterilize the case occasionally.

This sterilization will permit the thermometer to be used by every member of the family, but the idea is not attractive and it would be better to have a thermometer for each member of the family.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED

What is a good remedy for asthma? A. W. CONNECTICUT.

Your first step should be to see if the cause of your asthma could be determined. If it is not, you should keep no pets, as dandruff is often the cause of asthma. If it is a family affair look for dust cloth.

Please tell me the location of the Boston Dispensary hospital for incurables in the city. Thanks. A. D. G., HAVERHILL.

You might send in touch with the Daily Child Health Bureau, Boston, Mass., or the Robert B. Brigham Hospital in the Parker Hill district.

If you succeeding make the name and address of a physician who will charge you when the bonus money is received.

A free selection of physicians in the Boston district will be made upon request addressed for applicant. If you were sufferers from an affection of the bowels with a gas infection, you must certainly should be aware of this condition.

What will bring a thin person back to normal weight?

Regulated exercise, rest in door life and a nutritious, easily digested diet ought to accomplish the purpose.

Any city children suffer from croup. What can I do for them?

MRS. J. A. D., EAST BOSTON.

Mrs. Andrew H. Ladd, M. D., sends children to the Children's Hospital, Boston, suffering from croup and says they may have a thorough physical examination and then you should be guided by their advice.

can get all the people you want to tell you the law, if you happen not to know it. But to make somebody take your view of the law requires ability.

YOU HAVE been told here often that wheat and other grains were going up in price. And so they are, in the judgment of this writer. Putting up wheat and corn is the easiest way of piling up a fortune for nothing and taking them from La Follette.

Mr. Arthur W. Cotten, of Chicago, is said to have cleaned up a million and a half in corn. He would have made more had he held on longer. But don't grumble. Leave that to Mr. Cotten and his friends. They know now.

IF ALL would be "get rich quick" schemers fare like Edward Allen, Frank Taylor and Tony Baldi, of New Jersey, it would be well for the innocent. The three men named were due to hang at Trenton on a night. Having heard that Walter Crozier had great wealth hidden on his farm, they killed him. They got $6 in all, each netting exactly $2 for his life.

PITTSBURGH & LAKE ERIE, another one of our "distressful" railroads, announces earnings of $18.29 for every share of common stock. Railroads, at least, are doing well, if you find any comfort in that.

FINANCE

— By B. C. Forbes —

Surely it must be astounding the World to read every few weeks of another profitable American business being handed over by the owners to employes.

One more instance has just come to light. The veteran owners of the Devoe & Reynolds Company, Inc., of New York, one of the oldest manufacturing paint and painters' materials in the United States, have handed over control to sixteen employes, all youngish men. The new president, E. S. Phillips, who started as a retail clerk with the company, is only 31 and not one of the other fifteen new owners is over 40.

Is this giving away of businesses going to become a permanent feature of American industrial life?

The first instance or two were regarded merely as freakish acts. But the fashion once having been set, it is steadily gaining in favor.

* * *

Here are some of the businesses which the owners have passed over to employes in the recent past; these are cases which have come under the observation of the writer and doubtless there have been not a few others:

Henry A. Dix & Son, Inc. (manufacturers of uniforms and standard dresses) of New York.

I. Heller & Company (dress manufacturers) of New York.

M. Martin & Company (hinner manufacturers of undergarments, with plants at Brooklyn, Scranton, Pa., and in New Jersey) of New York.

Charles Thorley (Fifth avenue florist) of New York.

John Borg (stock broker) of New York.

Joseph H. Cohen (cloak and suit concern) of New York.

Northwestern Terra Cotta Company (largest manufacturers of terra cotta products in the world) of Chicago.

Moore Brothers & Drummond (retail hat stores) of New York.

Schmieder Realty Corporation (real estate and insurance) of West Hoboken, N. J.

Other employers have taken to presenting large blocks of stock to their workers.

The newspapers only a week or two ago recorded the distribution of some $11,000,000 of stock by George Eastman to employes of the Eastman Kodak Company. This stock was not a gift of the company, but a gift out of Mr. Eastman's own pocket. Mr. Eastman has given away in the last fifteen years probably between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000. He is a 70-year-old bachelor.

Then there is "Golden Rule" Nash, the Cincinnati clothing manufacturer, whose latest largesse to his workers takes the form of turning over his share of the 100 per cent. stock dividend declared by the company last May. While Mr. Nash plans to retain control for five years, in order that his employes may be thoroughly trained to run the business, it is his intention that control of the business should pass into their hands.

Henri Bendel, owner of a very profitable women's specialty house, is donating 45 per cent. of the $4,000,000 capital stock of the firm to his employes. The distribution is to be strung over a period of years. The first $250,000 was divided among the 18 employes who had been longest with the house. Mr. Bendel explained:

"My purpose is to perpetuate the house, as well as to reward its employes for faithful services which have made possible its upbuilding. I have no intention of retiring. Originally I planned to turn over, in my will, a part of the business to my employes, but have decided to carry out the scheme now, so that I can get pleasure out of it, too."

Somewhat different, yet having its place in the recital, was the bequeathing of the New York Bank Note Company by its owners, George H. Kendall, to his experienced secretary (a woman), whom he described as better equipped than any other person to continue the successful running of his enterprise.

* * *

Atlanta has had its "Golden Rule" employer, namely John J. Eagan. He was noted for his generosity to his workers and others, and when he died recently he left a large block of the stock of his company, the American Cast Iron Pipe Company, located at Birmingham, Alabama, to his employes. An idea of the value of this gift may be gathered from the fact that the first year's profits on it brought more than $400,000 to the workers.

Now, is all this merely a passing outburst of generosity on the part of a relatively few large-hearted employers?

Or, does it mean that a fundamental change is under way in the minds of successful Americans owning their own business?

I am inclined to think that this development will continue and that it will greatly broaden.

Why?

The answer will require a whole column.

OILS ATTACKED IN NEW YORK TRADING

Considerable irregularity developed at the opening of today's New York stock market.

This continued under pressure in further reflection of the spread of gasoline price cuts, Atlantic Refining dropping 2 points to a new 1924 low and most of the other active issues yielding fractionally on initial sales.

Liggett & Myers and Interboro rapid transit each touched new 1924 peak prices.

Reactionary tendencies predominated during the early trading, although independent strength was shown by A. P. W. Rails and Public Utilities.

Virginia Railway & Power dropped 2¼ points. Phillips-Jones, Stewart-Warner and American Water Works common, 2 each, and International Paper, Stromberg Carburetor, General Electric and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe sold off a point or more.

Additional new 1924 highs were recorded by Chicago, Delaware & Hudson, Illinois Central, Wheeling and Lake Erie common and preferred and Manhattan moderate guaranteed.

Other strong spots included American Express, pressed Steel Car, Union Tank Car and Goodyear Rubber preferred, up 1 to 2 points. Foreign exchanges moved steady.

When the new management of the International Paper Company took charge a few weeks ago it was generally assumed in the financial district that more liberal treatment was in store for the common stockholders. Although there has been no hint recently that dividends will be resumed in the near future that eventually is believed responsible for a good deal of the buying that has been a feature of the industrial group for several weeks.

Yesterday the stock touched a new high for the year 1.58. The company is at present busy on an expansion program which it is believed will require $10,000,000 new financing, probably in the form of a bond issue. Bank loans, it is understood, have been reduced to around $7,500,000 from $11,700,000 at the end of the last year.

AUTO INDUSTRY "GETS READY"

Vacations, inventory-taking and the introduction of new models have seriously interfered with automobile production for the past month, but with the beginning of the last half of July it is apparent that the manufacturers are busying themselves in preparation for Fall business and setting things to rights for 1925, Automotive Industries will say this week.

This really is the start of the industry's fiscal year, and the slowness of use may be properly attributed to a general housecleaning in the way of cleaning up old stocks and balancing 1924's ledgers. That done, car builders now are in position to start afresh, confident that ahead of them lies good business because of crop prospects and a more cheerful tone in the business world, brought about largely by the closing of entries in the Presidential race.

WATER WORKS FACES QUERY

There is considerable talk about the possibility of the Stock Exchange investigating the recent action in American Water Works. The same report was around toward the close of last week and those interested let the shares off for awhile, as a result.

However, so far as can be ascertained Water Works represents another of those "technical corners" which the exchange never interferes with. While there is hardly a doubt that one interest has control of the floating supply of the stock, a sufficient loaning supply is being maintained. When sufficient amount of shares is sent to the exchange to meet borrowing demands, the Stock Exchange says the "corner" is satisfactory. In other words, it is perfectly satisfactory to "corner" a stock so long as you permit those who have sold it short to borrow sufficient amount to make delivery.

American Water Works Co., whose stock has recently advanced sensationally, reports for the twelve months ended May 31, 1924, a surplus of $3,192,895 after interest charges and depreciation.

This is equivalent, after allowing for first preferred dividends, to $12.79 a share on the combined 200,000 shares of participating preferred and common stock. In the preceding year the surplus was $2,495,209, equal to $10.10 on the combined shares.

The report, including the West Penn. Co. and other subsidiaries, compares as follows:

	12 Months Ended May, 1924	12 Months Ended May, 1923
May gross	$2,132,869	$1,994,231
*Surp after charges	218,554	224,635
12 mos. gross	25,182,877	21,024,217
*Surp. after charges	$3,191,820	$2,400,420

*After depreciation and preferred dividends of subsidiaries.

Tennessee Eastern

Tennessee Eastern Electric Co. declared regular quarterly dividends of $1.50 on preferred and $1.75 on cumulative preferred stocks, both payable September 2 to stock of record August 1, 1924.

AMERICAN METAL DIVIDEND EARNED

American Metal Co. earnings for first half of 1924 are estimated at $1,550,000 after taxes, depreciation, depletion and other charges. This is equivalent to $3 a share on 590,790 shares of common after half-year dividends of $175,000 or $3.50 a share on 50,000 shares of preferred. In first six months of 1924 American Metal Co. has therefore earned the full year's dividends on its common.

ENDICOTT JOHNSON PROFITS FALL OFF

Endicott Johnson Corporation for six months ended June 30, reports net profit of $1,729,245 after federal taxes, depreciation and interest charges, etc., equal after preferred dividends to $3.13 a share (par $50) on $20,253,000 common stock, against net profit of $2,321,977 or $4.57 a share on $20,253,000 common in same period 1922.

KRESGE'S PROFITS DISPLAY INCREASE

S. S. Kresge Co. for six months ended June 30, 1924, shows net of $4,218,917 after federal taxes equivalent after allowing for preferred dividends to $17.45 a share on $24,217,933 common, against $4,147,351, or $16.63 a share, in first half of 1923.

BUSINESS OF NATION HOLDS UP WELL

By FRANK H. MELOON, Financial Editor.

National trade indices show that the general business of this great nation of ours is holding up well. Business men generally are optimistic on the outlook for the remainder of the current year in most lines.

The telegraph business is a trade index held in considerable repute by Street observers of the trend. Hence it is especially interesting to note that the net income of the Western Union Telegraph Company for the six months ended June 30 last (month of June estimated) has [illegible] equal to $6.09 a share on the $99,817,100 stock. This compares with net of $6,950,034 in the same 1923 half-year, equal to $6.94 a share on the same amount of stock.

Comparison of figures for the two half-years follow (month of June, 1924, estimated):

	1st 6 mos. 1924	1st 6 mos. 1923
Gross revenues, including Am A Tel	$55,318,618	$56,135,450
Maintenance, Repairs and reserve for depreciation, rent of leased lines, etc.	9,396,487	8,908,087
[illegible]	28,541,528	28,[illegible]
Total expenses	47,561,622	48,[illegible]
Balance	7,757,[illegible]	[illegible]

It is not surprising that the majority of the copper stocks continue to lag behind the rest of the market when one analyzes current conditions in the industry. For this reason pool operators have preferred to concentrate their activities on other issues, where basic conditions of the industries represented present a more favorable aspect. Although there was a slight firming up in the price of copper last week, current quotations for the metal are practically at the lowest point in ten years, despite a huge domestic consumption.

Copper recently has turned weaker, according to "The Engineering and Mining Journal," owing to the immense production seeking to find an outlet on a mid-summer holiday market.

Most of the larger producers have been quoting copper at 12⅝ cents a pound, delivered, but have done little business at that level, as some sellers have reduced quotations to 12½ cents.

E. H. H. Simmons, president of New York Stock Exchange, in current issue of "The Spur" reviewing American investments in foreign securities from standpoint of the $2,000,000,000 of foreign bonds listed on Stock Exchange, says: "Perhaps the commonest objection to foreign investing—that our home government and our domestic enterprises might be deprived of adequate capital through competition afforded by foreign countries and foreign enterprises—seems the least important of all, at least in the near future.

"American business, for the time being at any rate, appears to be amply provided with productive facilities, and not so greatly in need of fresh capital as to require all the annual savings of the country. Furthermore there are deep-rooted economic reasons why America will probably continue indefinitely to prefer domestic to foreign investments.

"The present prejudices of Americans against foreign as compared with domestic securities arise largely from our economic self-sufficiency as a nation, and from the smallness of our foreign trade compared with our domestic trade."

He says: "We suggest that about one-quarter of one's stock funds should be utilized for buying at the present time. Moreover, when buying don't climb for stocks."

Replies to Investors

NORFOLK & WESTERN.

To R. B. C.—Interstate Commerce Commission placed tentative value of $237,472,032 on properties of Norfolk & Western as of June 30, 1916. Road had outstanding on date of valuation total par value of $236,765,000 in stocks and long-term items, of which $118,297,400 represented common stock, $22,991,800 preferred and $1,5,566,500 funded debt.

Original cost to date of all common carrier property of the road cannot be ascertained, as necessary records are not obtainable. Carrier's investment in road and equipment, including land on date of valuation, is stated in its books as $263,585,356. Commission states cost of reproduction, new, of road would be $235,976,850 and cost of reproduction, less depreciation, $205,417,593.

Interstate Commerce Commission also placed tentative value of $15,579,342 on Cumberland Valley Railroad and $158,040 on Stewartstown Railroad, as of same date.

MERCHANT MARINE.

To D. O. O.—"From present indications I expect earnings of Intersear to be better than they were year to be better than they were last year," says Harry Bronner, a director of the company.

"The company will safely earn its fixed charges and depreciation, both of which amount to a little more than $7,000,000. The company will not, however, be able to resume dividends this year.

"I do not look for any big boom in business generally, because the country has caught up on its housing, plants, automobile and railroad programs. This has caused business to slow down. Slowing-down in business has caused cheap money, which is now idle and looking for a place for investment. This has caused a rising of security prices."

ATCHISON.

To C. L. H.—As the last six months of the year are usually the period of heaviest earnings for Atchison, there is still plenty of time for this road to make a showing that will compare favorably with that of last year, when it earned $15.43 a share on the $232,418,500 common. Despite the fact that 1923 was a very good year for Atchison, it moved comparatively little grain. A better grain movement is expected this year. The decline in business now keeping Atchison's loadings below the corresponding 1923 figures began in the latter part of last year, and the last two months of 1923 were poor ones for this road.

MIDDLE STATES OIL.

To I. L. I.—Why buy Middle States Oil with the idea that you are investing? The writer sees nothing in the past history of the company that he feels should afford encouragement to holders of Middle States Oil shares.

NASH MOTORS.

To S. H. M.—Nash Motors Company will start operation of the Mitchell automobile factory purchased months ago. It is presumed that light automobiles will be manufactured. New organization will be known as Ajax Motors Company and will be a subsidiary of Nash. It has a capital of $3,000,000 7 per cent. cumulative preferred and 50,000 shares of no-par common. Nash stock is generally in high repute.

BOSTON AMERICAN

LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

The New England shoe manufacturer who neglects to register with the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, and develop overseas connections, is missing a wonderful opportunity. He should get in touch with Harvey Sweetser.

In the New England city where Philip Kertland founded the American shoe industry, in 1638, every boy is given his chance to learn the shoemaking business, "from cutting to packing." Good for Lynn!

Lynn, Cradle of America's Shoe Industry, Trains Her Own Minute Men to Carry It On

AT 8:15 O'CLOCK tonight one hundred pretty girls will appear on the runway in Mechanics Building to show to visiting shoe buyers the styles which are likely to prove the best sellers in the shoe season just ahead of us.

This market fair, or style show, the fourth annual National Shoe and Leather Exposition, is of primary importance to Minute Men in these Six States not only because the American shoe industry was born here, but because in the face of increasingly vigorous competition New England continues to make nearly one-half of all the shoes manufactured in the United States.

Massachusetts ranks FIRST among the shoe-producing States; New York, second; Missouri, third.

Brockton leads the shoemaking cities; New York, Lynn, St. Louis and Haverhill follow in the order named.

The presence in Boston of nearly one thousand shoe-buyers has directed attention to the fact that our best FOREIGN customer is little Cuba.

The Pearl of the Antilles, shoe men say, is the best market in the world for the American shoe.

Mexico is our second best customer among the nations; Canada ranks third; after these comes the United Kingdom.

The largest group of visiting shoe buyers naturally is composed of Americans, who have come to the nation's shoe centre from practically all the States of the Union.

The second largest group are the Canadians, who are geographically nearer to us than even our other friends in Milwaukee or St. Louis. Yesterday was "Canadian Day."

At this shoe market-fair you will hear a good deal about "shoes for the occasion."

"No tan shoes after 6 o'clock." So runs another slogan.

Shoe men call this style show the "turning point in a period of dullness." There is a distinctly better feeling in the trade. Pessimism has become unpopular. Salesmen report that stocks on the shelves of the retailer are unusually low; that the jobbers have few shoes on hand. No one looks for a "buying boom," exactly, but everyone expects a "gradual increase in demand." Things in the shoe trade are looking up.

Every Bostonian, every New Englander who can do so, should visit this exposition in Mechanics Building.

The shoe industry is a MASSACHUSETTS industry.

Boston is the leading shoe and leather centre not only of America but of the world.

In this city is the largest single factory in the world producing women's shoes alone, a factory with a daily capacity of 17,000 pairs.

Two years ago there were 1,505 establishments in the United States engaged in the manufacture of shoes.

The number of wage earners employed in the industry was 183,502.

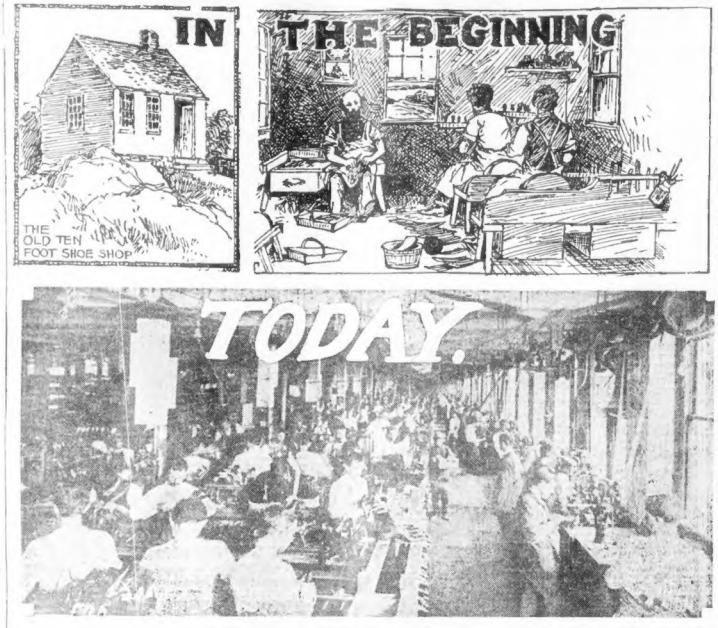
Approximately one-third of the factories and nearly one-half of the wage earners are here in New England.

The Braintrees, the Abingtons, the Weymouths, the Bridgewaters, Brockton, Rockland, Whitman, Randolph, Holbrook and the Stoughtons, the roll of New England communities which have been built up around the shoe business is a gazeteer all by itself. These are in one South Shore neighborhood.

Brockton is the leading centre of the manufacture of men's shoes. Lynn, our second shoe city, specializes in footwear for women. Haverhill leads in slippers. Essex County has at times manufactured one-seventh of all the footwear produced in the United States.

Marlboro, Manchester, Nashua, Dover, Newburyport, Auburn and Gardiner in Maine—there are more than one hundred communities in New England in which some part of this great industry is carried on.

And so it comes that the shoe buyers of the world are with us, have been with us since Monday, and at 8:15 o'clock every evening watch the entrance, the promenade and the exit of girl models on the runway in Mechanics Building.



Shoe Shop of the Early Days; Room in a Modern Factory

The youthful models, chosen for their physical charm as well as their ability to wear good clothes effectively, were selected several weeks ago. The style revue has been a dazzling success.

The coming Fall, we are told at the show, will be a "black" season. The leading styles will include the slender-lined Colonial in its simplest form. The sabot pump will be popular. In the "general wear" group, patent leather will lead, with Russia calf second and gun metal and black suede running third.

So much for visiting buyers, girl models, runway and style talk.

At least one visitor to the Shoe and Leather Exposition found four men there who are even more interesting than the girl models.

These four men, named in the order in which this investigator met them, are:

Harry D. Hamilton.
Arthur B. Butman.
Michael J. Tracey.
Joseph Lavoie.

Harry Hamilton is an Illinois man, the New England sales agent of a Milwaukee shoe manufacturer.

Read that over again.

Mr. Hamilton is selling, in the shoe centre of the United States, a shoe which is made far out in Wisconsin. His booth is the first on the left, as you enter the exhibition hall. You cannot miss it. If you look like a retailer, Mr. Hamilton will not permit you to miss it.

In Mr. Hamilton's own words, he has brought "coal to Newcastle."

"And the best of it is," he says cheerfully, "I am selling it, IN Newcastle. See this traveling window display? Just the thing with which to introduce a new product. We put this into the window of every new retailer who takes on our line."

Arthur B. Butman is chief of the shoe and leather manufactures' division of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, in the United States Department of Commerce.

The Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce is Dr. Julius Klein's bureau, about which you were told only a few weeks ago.

"We are trade scouts," Mr. Butman has been telling the shoe men. "Our function is to foster your export trade in every way possible.

"What we ask the shoe manufacturer to do is take full advantage of the approximately one thousand Government representatives who are at his service in all parts of the world.

"The FIRST thing the manufacturer should do is enter his name on our Exporters' Index, maintained in the interest of American manufacturers and exporters engaged in overseas trade.

"Once he has registered with us, the shoe manufacturer will be supplied regularly with what we call 'reserved information.' This includes reports, trade lists and other confidential information received from Government representatives throughout the world.

"Among other things we pass along to manufacturer and exporter are specific inquiries for American merchandise, definite requests for purchases in the United States, or interrogations from foreign business men eager to act as agents for American goods.

"If I were a New England shoe manufacturer, and wanted my share of the foreign market, I should begin by getting in touch with Harvey A. Sweetser, acting manager of the office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce in the Boston district, on the eighteenth floor of the Custom House."

A South Shore shoe manufacturer asked Mr. Butman for an illustration of the Bureau's prompt helpfulness to the shoe industry.

"Not long ago," responded the chief of the shoe and leather manufactures' division, "the Parliament of the Union of South Africa passed what is known as the 'leather adulteration' law, prohibiting the importation of leather—and specifically the soles of shoes—except with the positive guarantee that it is PURE leather.

"A shoe manufacturer in the State of New York was at work on a South African order of considerable size when he learned of the new law.

"The New York man promptly wrote to us. The provisions of the act, he said, were not clear. Would we get an official interpretation?

"We immediately cabled to the Government representative at Johannesburg. He went to the customs officials. Within forty-eight hours the cable brought word that the new law does not apply, at present, to MANUFACTURED footwear. We relayed this message to Rochester and the New York manufacturer went ahead on his shoes."

Our third interesting man at the Shoe and Leather show was pointed out by a salesman from the Middle West.

Michael J. Tracey is director of the Lynn Independent Industrial Shoemaking School, the ONLY INSTITUTION OF ITS KIND IN THE UNITED STATES.

The Mechanics Building exhibit of the shoemaking school is modestly hidden away in one of the corners of the exposition hall.

"If one of our Mid-Western States had a school like that," the salesman said, "you can bet your sweet life it would be the very heart and centre of this show."

The shoemaking school is five years old. It is maintained jointly by the City of Lynn and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, at a net cost of about $12,000 a year.

The shoemaking school has 45 pupils. It is under the supervision of the State Board of Education.

Director Tracey was arranging for exhibition the handiwork of one of his most recent graduates, "Joe" Lavoie.

"No one," Mr. Tracey explained, "receives the diploma of this institution until, at the end of his four-year course, he makes twelve pairs of shoes. These are the shoes upon which 'Joe' Lavoie was graduated.

"Lavoie is a youthful veteran of the World War, an Augusta, Maine, boy, who was sent to us by the Government. Most of his shoes, you observe, are either one-strap pumps or apron-oxfords.

"There are about ninety different and distinct operations in shoemaking, and Lavoie has learned every one of them, from cutting to packing. He is, I should say, the making of a shoe-factory executive. I should not hesitate a minute to recommend him for employment. He will have little difficulty in making a profitable connection.

"The idea of this school is simply the idea of apprenticeship, modernized.

"In olden days, the boy spent three years with a master of his trade and then himself became a master. Today, in our school, the Lynn boy has an opportunity to learn the shoe industry from start to finish.

"The school does NOT engage in the work of turning out expert cutters, or lasters, or edge-makers. Practical experience probably will always be necessary for one who wants to become an expert workman on any particular PART.

"What WE aim to do is give our graduates a broad training in the fundamental principles of shoemaking which, coupled with manipulative training and supplemented by experience, will enable them to understand and direct the technique of the making of shoes in all departments."

The only public shoemaking school in all the world, situated in the city which saw the very beginning of the shoe industry in America, is open to residents of Lynn who are more than 14 years of age, who have received a grammar-school education, and who will bind themselves to take the full four-year course.

The instructors are skilled shoemakers. Out-of-town pupils pay an annual tuition fee of $150.

Four Minute Men—Hamilton, Butman, Lavoie, Tracey.

Harry Hamilton of Illinois, a Minute Man from the Middle West, come to startle and arouse the Minute Men of New England by offering Wisconsin shoes in the land which knew Kertland, John Adam Dagyr, Elias Howe, Lyman Blake and Gordon McKay!

Arthur B. Butman, Minute Man in the service of the United States, who places his own experience and the eager intelligence of 1,000 "trade scouts" at the disposal of every shoemaking Minute Man in New England.

"Joe" Lavoie of Augusta, Minute Man in war, Minute Man of peace.

Michael J. Tracey, Minute Man whose skill as shoemaker and whose great gifts as instructor will raise up for his own city and other shoe cities an army of skilled shoe-shop executives, trained in every branch of shoemaking from cutting to packing.

New England?

Not slipping, gentlemen, not going backwards, but tackling her problems intelligently and courageously.

Merely beginning.
